This work is dedicated to the first Henry who bravely boarded the ship that would carry him to the new world. I don't know who that was or when he did it, but it was prior to 1797, and probably prior to 1750 when it is guessed that Richard's father was in America. The John in this book is believed to be the father of Richard, but I have not been able to prove that fact.

So many people research for years in an attempt to find their roots and then when they die, the children throw away the years of research rather than presenting it to an archival institution or some other member of the family that might go forward with the work. With that in mind, I have decided to publish this book, containing the knowledge that I have to this point. I will never live long enough to prove some of the dates and facts, but they are believed to be true at this point and I can only set them down in print to preserve what knowledge I and my siblings had of the family. Much has been left for the future researcher to do and carry forward, but I hope that this will be a start.

So with those thoughts, I dedicate this book to

Richard J. Henry (1797-1876)
and my oldest sister
Georgia Mae Henry Hutchinson (1907-)

who was afraid I wouldn't get this published before her final day came.

Reading This Book

If, while reading the following pages of this book, the reader will keep these few facts in mind, a much clearer understanding of the contents will result. The format or style used in this book is known as the Modified Register System, which has been refined by the National Genealogical Society.

Three types of numbers are used: one to uniquely identify the individual, one to indicate the generation into which that person falls, and one to denote his or her birth-order within the nuclear family. The identification numbering system used in this book is called By Generation. The starting person is 1, his first child is 2. All the children are listed as generation number two, the grand-children are listed as generation number three and so on. Each person is assigned an ID number in sequential order by generation.

When an individual is introduced in his/her separate sketch, the name appears in boldface letters with the surnames in all capital letters. The name is preceded by the identification number. The last given name is followed immediately by a superscript number indicating the number of generations from the starting individual in this book. In parentheses following the name is a list of direct ancestors back to the starting individual. Only the given name is listed, followed by the generation number in superscript.

When the list of children is presented, the plus (+) sign indicates that more about this child will be presented in his/her separate sketch. The ID number is printed, followed by M/F indicating the sex. Next a small roman numeral in front of the name designates birth-order. Next the name is followed by the birth and death dates.

The term "Spouse" may have several different meanings: husband, wife, partner, mate, parent, or significant other. The couple involved may not be legally married. The term "stepchild" may have several different meanings: the child may be a stepchild, adopted child, foster child, or just raised in the home. If there are any other children of the spouse, they will be designated as stepchildren.

The index is arranged alphabetically by surname. Under each surname, the given names are alphabetically arranged. The name is followed by the year of birth and death in square brackets. The number to the right indicates the page where this name appears. The wife appears under her maiden name and under her married names with her maiden name in parentheses.

Remember that the + means that person has descendants and a section is devoted to him/her later in the book. When a person does have descendants, then the notes and biographical materials, etc., are included in that later section. If they had no descendants, there is no + sign before the name and any notes, anecdotes, or biographical materials are covered immediately after their entry.

The photographs were mainly taken from Xerox copies supplied by various members of the family. I apologize for the less than perfect reproduction.

CHAPTER 1

The Descendants of John Henry 1768-

Listing 941 descendants for 10 generations.

GENERATION NO. 1

1. John[1] HENRY was born about 1768. He married Betsy FOLEY <See number 160, p. 84, 86>. She was born 26 June 1769, the daughter of Richard FOLEY and Margaret WILSON.

They had 3 children:

\+ 2. m i. Richard J. HENRY <See p. 17> was on born 3 October 1797 and died 2 June 1876.

3. m ii. George HENRY. This identity is made from the 1876 Morgan County, Illinois, history.[48] George was a Mason along with Richard. They were members of the Lexington No. 1 Lodge, Kentucky.[86] After moving to Jacksonville, Illinois, they transferred to the Grand Lodge of Missouri, and October 4, 1837, the Masons in Jacksonville petitioned the Grand Lodge of Missouri to establish their own lodge and the petition was granted. They were members of that lodge.[86, 88]

4. m iii. John HENRY. I am adding John Henry as a member of this family, a brother of Richard and George Henry, based on newspaper accounts that indicate John is related. It is possible that the John mentioned in the newspaper is the father, but there was no mention that he was the father. There has been no mention in the history[44] that John accompanied Richard on the trip from Kentucky in 1828. So I am going on theory that this John, mentioned in the newspapers[67] is a brother and, therefore, must have been born around 1800 to make the trip to Illinois.

NOTES for Betsy:

This wife could be Sarah Foley or Sarah Bowman.[48] I am using Foley since the Kentucky Family Records[49] shows more clearly she and husband (John Henry) as inheriting. Since reference 49 indicates this is Betsy Foley and did marry John Henry, I am going to record that as of this time (1994) to do further research. John could have been born in Virginia since his father-in-law, Richard Foley, apparently is living in Frederick County, Virginia, and then went to Kentucky in 1779 after receiving land on the Dix River in 1780. Could this be from a Revolutionary pension or award?

NOTES for John:

Kentucky Family Records containing the Foley Family Data and Last Will indicates John married Betsy Foley, and is named as a son-in-law of her father, Richard Foley, in his last will dated 1795 in Fayette County, Kentucky. His birth is being computed from the age of his wife.

CHAPTER 2

GENERATION NO. 2

2. Richard J.[2] HENRY (John[1]) <See p. 15> was born 3 October 1797 in Bourbon County, Kentucky. He was the son of John HENRY and Betsy FOLEY. Richard died 2 June 1876[76] in Buckhorn, Morgan County, Illinois, at the age of 78, and was buried in Lewis Cemetery. He married Lucy PICKETT on 14 February 1822 in Fayette County, Kentucky. She was born about 1799[130] in Kentucky and was still alive in 1877 so she must have lived to be at least 78 or 80 years of age.

They had 6 children:[89]

+	5.	m	i.	Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, <See p. 19, 98> born 23 July 1827 in Lexington, Kentucky, and died 12 January 1914.
+	6.	m	ii.	George W. HENRY, <See p. 25> born 1830.[76]
	7.	f	iii.	Sarah HENRY, born 1833 in Morgan County, Illinois, and died before 1876.
+	8.	m	iv.	David Crockett HENRY, <See p. 26> born 1835, died 1862.
	9.	m	v.	Richard J. HENRY, born the same place 1837, was a bachelor.[167]
	10.	f	vi.	Lucy HENRY, married J. W. McAllister.

NOTES for Lucy Pickett:

Compiler doesn't have much on Picketts at this time, but a letter from H. Raymond Henry, January 19, 1972,[61] indicates that General Lew Wallace, author of Ben Hur, married a Pickett. Limited research at this point has not disclosed that Lew Wallace married a Pickett. Lucy is listed on the 1850 census as 51 years of age.[89] She is listed in 1860 census living in Jacksonville Precinct, Morgan County, Illinois, and a gardener. Petition as administratrix for the estate of Richard Henry shows her "X" so she is alive February 6, 1877, and apparently unable to read or write.[76]

NOTES for Richard:

Having been born in Bourbon County, Kentucky, he moved in 1830 to Morgan County, Illinois, near Jacksonville shortly after the great snowfall. In 1838, "Richard, Ira Davenport, and George Henry, took a contract for building the first railroad in the state, known as Northern Cross Railroad, part of which is now included in the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad. He made the survey for the town of Woodson, planted the first hedge row and orchard, raised a subscription of $100,000 for the Jacksonville Division of the C&A Railroad. He was a warm friend of Judge Woodson, from whom the town of Woodson derives its name. He contributed very materially to the present prosperity of Morgan County." The Jacksonville Daily Illinoian, April 2, 1842, contains a notice of bankruptcy and for creditors to appear in court for Richard Henry on June 6, 1842, in Springfield.

"He was possessed of wonderful energy and unswerving integrity, who, when misfortune overtook him, discharged his obligations - dollar for dollar. He might have been wealthy, but preferred to be honorable and his name will go down to posterity as an honest man. He died June 2, 1876, and was buried by his Masonic brethren in Lewis Cemetery in Buckhorn, a short distance from Woodson. He was a charter member of the Masonic Lodge in Jacksonville."[76, 86, 88, 116]

"My grandfather...was a big cattleman. He drove cattle... to the Dearborn Station, which is now known as Chicago. Thence by boat through the lakes to Rochester, New York, thence to New York City. He was widely known as a great mental mathematician. In order to shorten his drive, he built a railroad on Illinois bonds, reaching from Chicago to Alton, known as the Alton and Chicago Railroad (Note: C&A Railroad above?) with his own money, because the state did not have it. Later they disavowed their bonds and it cost him one million dollars." (Ref: Letter of H. Raymond Henry, January 19, 1972).

The 1850 U. S. Census shows he had real estate valued at $3000.[89] Children are also listed in Kentucky Ancestry Magazine, January, 1980. The 1860 U. S. Census shows Jacksonville Precinct, Morgan County, Illinois, that he is a Gardener and has $17,500 in real estate and $500 personal property. Wife, Lucy, is listed also as gardener, and there are no others shown in household.[130]

"$5 Reward for a pocketbook which I lost on the 2d or 3d day of this month. It is a small, red morroco one, with a clasp, gilded round the edges; had in it one twenty dollar note and one ten dollar note, a note of hand given by Wm Saxton to T. B. Hickman for $16.92 cents, due 3 or 4 months, and one or two other papers not recollected. The above reward will be given for the book and contents by John Henry, of Jacksonville, or myself. Richard Henry. Morgan County, Nov 20, 1830." (From Jacksonville, Illinois, Western Observer, November 27, 1830, Vol 1 No. 31, a Morgan County Newspaper. Also repeated on December 4, 1830).[67] So he apparently went west with some money.

"WOODSON: Situated on Chicago and Alton Railroad, about seven miles south of Jacksonville. Laid out May 2, 1859, for Richard Henry and Joseph Adams at which time the farming community experienced considerable trouble in taking their produce to market, and it was this fact, chiefly, that led to the laying out of the town. In 1858, prior to the laying out of the town, Dr. E. B. Buckner located here, but afterwards married and removed to Missouri. First lot in the town of Woodson was sold to Richard Henry who erected a building which he occupied as a dwelling, and in which he opened a store. Columbus Hargrove, a wandering Kentuckian, opened, in a little cabin in the south part of town, the first store in the village. His principle commodities were bacon and molasses. In 1863 the government established a post office and appointed Mr. John T. Henry, Postmaster. In 1864 Mr. Henry built a depot and was appointed railroad agent. He still retains both positions (1878). In 1865 Mr. Chas. Bosomworth opened the first blacksmith shop in the village... In 1867 a new school replaced the log cabin school....Christian Church and grain elevator erected in 1869. Woodson Precinct was formed in 1868 for the convenience of voters living in the vicinity. Judges of first election were J. H. Self, Jesse Henry, and John H. Reaugh. Mr. M. J. Clarihan, Ewq., (sic) an Irish Republican cast the first vote. In this election, Edwin Ruthvan Henry, Esq. was elected Justice of the Peace. Woodson contains about 200 inhabitants. It is surrounded by a good farming community and does a good business in the shipping of grain and livestock".[67, 116] Notice of bankruptcy for creditors to appear in court for Richard Henry on June 6, 1842.[67]

His marriage is recorded in Fayette County, Kentucky, records[43] and indicates the surety was Robert Beatty. Records from Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, indicate Richard and George were members of the Lexington, Kentucky, Lodge #1. After going to Illinois, they were recorded in 1837 as being in the Harmony Lodge #24 located at Jacksonville, Illinois, governed by the Grand Lodge of Missouri. In 1839 there was nothing reported in Missouri, but the Grand Lodge of Illinois had started and they were apparently part of the organization of the Grand Lodge of Illinois and appear in 1840 in Harmony Lodge #3 of the Illinois Grand Lodge. They remained there as members in 1841, Master Masons in 1842, Past Master in 1845 and 1846. By 1848 reported as Non-affiliated masons, and as Master Masons in the jurisdiction in 1850.[86, 88] Further family members are found in Ref. 123.

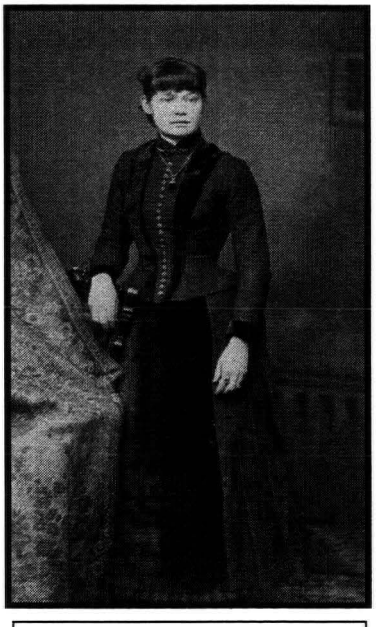
GENERATION NO. 3

5. Edwin Ruthvan[3] HENRY, I, <See p. 17, 98> (Richard[2], John[1]) was born 23 July 1827 in Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky. He was the son of Richard J. HENRY and Lucy PICKETT. Edwin died 12 January 1914[70(14)] in Inglewood, Los Angeles, California, at the age of 86, and was buried in the Inglewood Memorial Cemetery, Inglewood, California. He married Nancy Jane "Jennie" ROGERS <See number 203, p. 100> 25 November 1866 in Aledo, Mercer County, Illinois. She was born 5 May 1845 in Johnson, LaMoille County, Vermont, the daughter of Stephen G. ROGERS <See number 199, p. 95, 97> and Irene STONE.[153] Nancy died 6 June 1913 in Topeka, Shawnee County, Kansas, at the age of 68, and was buried 11 June 1913 in St. Louis, Missouri, in the cemetery plot of her daughter and son-in-law, Isabelle and Theodore S. Henderson.



Sarah Irene Henry

They had 7 children:

11. f i. Sarah Irene HENRY, born 23 October 1868, no doubt in Woodson, Morgan County, Illinois, since Edwin and Nancy had moved there earlier and he was elected Justice of the Peace in 1868. She married Samuel ANDREWS. Samuel is buried in Inglewood Memorial Cemetery, Inglewood, California.

When Sarah died in 1949[168] she was buried next to Samuel. They had no children. Interment order shows location of grave for Samuel and she, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. George A. Henry, and Harlan H. and Edna Peet, who must be close relatives of Samuel.[56]

+ 12. f ii. Isabelle HENRY, <See p. 28> born 3 August 1870, in Woodson, Illinois, and died 7 November 1910.

+ 13. f iii. Adelia Ellen HENRY, <See p. 29> born 17 September 1872, Woodson, Illinois; died 8 November 1947.

+ 14. m iv. Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II, <See p. 30, 114, 121> was born 24 July 1874, Woodson, Illinois, and died 22 May 1955.

15. m v. Steven R. HENRY was born in 1876, also in Woodson, and died in childhood on 13 December 1878 and was buried in Woodson, Illinois, in Robert's Cemetery. Steven died at two and a half years, but the cause of death is unknown. Isabelle (Gilmor) Kane viewed his grave at the Henry Cemetery, official name Robert's Cemetery, named after the surveyor.[110]

16. m vi. George Alford HENRY, born 19 May 1878[54] in Woodson, Illinois, and died 11 February 1961 in Inglewood.[57, 70(6, 8)] He married Bertha Alida THORNBURG in 1902. She was born 8 September 1882[58] in Winchester, Jefferson County, Kansas, the daughter of James Ramsey THORNBURG and Sarah Alida LUSE. Bertha died in 1984 in Inglewood, California, and is buried in the Inglewood Memorial Cemetery, Los Angeles County, California.

Bertha Thornburg 1900

Della Thornburg 1903

NOTES for Bertha:

"After the Korean war I was married and moved to New Mexico, but I would go visit George and Bertha when I was in Los Angeles. After George's death she lived alone in their home, and her sister, Della, came to live near by. They never got along well enough to live together. They later had apartments in the same complex. Bertha was a year or so older than Della and had two brothers, Ira and Norman.[178]

"I used to write Bertha frequently and send her money, that I was sure she needed, to pay on my rental bill. I did this for several years. When Bertha was about 98, Della called me and said that Bertha was really in very poor physical condition and was unable to live alone any longer and needed me to come to Los Angeles to settle their affairs and put them in a nursing home. She had one picked out that she thought would be nice and it was located in Inglewood near their only close relative, William Bullard.

"I went there and found them in very poor physical condition. I had to tell Bertha that they were going to a nursing home. She just agreed with whatever I said. She was nearly blind, deaf, emaciated, unable to walk farther than the bathroom in her apartment and absolutely unable to cook anything, she ate thawed TV dinners, a bite at a time as she went to or from the bathroom. She never slept in bed but on the couch in the living room, unable physically to change her clothes.

"I physically picked her up and carried her to the car. I gathered their assets and found that Bertha had about $35,000 in the bank. I called her "adopted" son and told him this had to be done and he could come from Oregon, if he wished. I never saw him. He did remind me he was like a son of George and Bertha, having lived with them many years. Upon getting the ladies in the nursing home, I deposited their money with the administrator and gave Harvey Luse, the son, authority to make further arrangements he felt necessary.

"I would go to Los Angeles and visit them in the home. Della didn't live much longer, passing on at about 98, I believe. On Bertha's 100th birthday I and my family were in the area so we went with cake and flowers, three days late, thinking she wouldn't know we were late. When she entered the room, we all sang Happy Birthday and then she said, "My, how nice, my second birthday party this week!"(Howard W. Henry recollections).

Bertha had a cousin, Francis Thornburg, living in Utica, Kansas, who also married a lady named Bertha Daniels. That Bertha was 92 years old in 1977 and still lives in Utica, Kansas, having several children residing in that area. I first met her while announcing the death of Bertha Thornburg Henry to the people in her address book, and we became friends and have corresponded for the 12 or so years since then. Birth date by affidavit[58] and listing some relatives.

NOTES for George:

"George told me about being a motorman on the St. Louis streetcar line and working as a steeplejack on the dome of the Los Angeles County Hall.

"He and Bertha had no children, but they had a boy they raised, I believe a relative, possibly a nephew, of Bertha. See Bertha Thornburg for more detail. I first met them in 1945 while on liberty from the naval facility at Oceanside, California. They were 72 when I first got to really know them. They had a home in Los Angeles on Bonsello Street and it had a guest house in the back. George and Bertha permitted me to stay there, rent free, while I was getting started in my profession in Los Angeles in 1950. I lived there six months until I was recalled in the service. George always had a ready story and was a very nice." (Howard W. Henry recollections).

Birth date by affidavit[54] and census.[70, p.8] George died 11 February 1961 in Inglewood, Los Angeles County, California, at the age of 82, and was buried 15 February 1961 at Inglewood Park in Inglewood, California. Burial place[56, 70 p.6] and certificate of death lists cardio-vascular disease severe.[57]

I have his union I.D. cards with photo.[55]

"I remember seeing him (George) when he visited Grandpa at 902 Avenue A (Dodge City, Kansas). He and grandpa were sitting on the porch swing. I was maybe 12 years old, but I can clearly remember some of his BS. I did not know Great Uncle George well -- I only remember seeing him three or four times, but I do remember his sense of humor. While his brother Edwin (Grandpa) would be telling some sort of tall tale, Uncle George would say, 'If you don't believe your grandpa, you can come to me for proof.' For example, he told me he was with his brother (Harry Raymond) in Topeka, Kansas, when he saw his first high school. His recollection was, 'It wasn't any higher than any other school I had seen.'" (Delburn R. Hutchinson, 1996).

+ 17. m vii. Harry Raymond HENRY <See p. 37> was born on 21 March 1882 and died 16 May 1974.

Nancy Jane Rogers had previously been married[104] to (1) Capt. Amos C. HOLDEN on 13 February 1861 in Aledo, Mercer County, Illinois. Amos was a Captain in the Civil war and died in about 1864 when he was drowned on horseback. Early research had shown his name as John, but Amos is verified from the marriage license.

NOTES for Nancy:

Nancy, who was always called Jennie by the family, came to Illinois from Vermont for a couple of years at the time Abraham Lincoln was in the Blackhawk War in Iowa. After the war they moved in on the trail of the Indians from Iowa to Kansas. She first married Capt. Amos C. Holden Feb 13, 1861[104] at age of 16 and had twin boys who died shortly after birth. Her husband drowned, as was reported in his biographical sketch. She went to Quincy, Illinois, where she owned (or worked at) a photography shop. I am not sure of the preceding story of going to Iowa and Kansas. She was definitely married at Aledo, Illinois, at the age of 16 to Amos Holden, and was underage, her father having to give permission.

Nancy Jane "Jennie" Henry c.1885

Edwin R. Henry, 1st, had been brought to Quincy as a result of injuries he suffered in the civil war. When he was well enough to leave the hospital for a walk, he went into town and, seeing the shop, thought he would have his picture taken for a "lark." There he met Jennie and they later married in Aledo, Mercer County, Illinois.[105] They migrated to Kansas in 1884, and she died there on June 6, 1913, of "Myocardial degeneration" and was interred in

Lot #5209 Blocks 54 & 63, lots in the name of T. S. Henderson, her son-in-law, in the Bellefontaine Cemetery[48, 110] in St. Louis. Born May 5, 1845,[48] a descendent of Robert and Susanna Rogers, who lived in Newbury, Massachusetts, in 1651 <See number 170, p. 84>. Her first marriage license has the consent of father to a minor's marriage in Alelo, Illinois, and marriage license for she and Edwin R. Henry was issued in the same county, so her parents must still be there in 1866.[104, 105]

NOTES for Edwin, I:

He was a farmer and small fruit grower at Woodson, but was born near Lexington, Kentucky. When he was eight years old his parents moved to Morgan County, Illinois,[116] though another source says they moved to Illinois in 1830 when he was but three years old, settling six miles south of Jacksonville. Nothing is known by this compiler about his young life, but on June 25, 1846,[30] at the age of 19, he enlisted at Alton, Illinois, for a period of twelve months in the Mexican War and was a private under the command of Capt. Wyatt's Company (subsequently Col. John J. Hardin's and Weatherford's) Co. G, lst Illinois Infantry. His service record jacket[39] contains only muster sheets showing that he was there and in active service.

They marched to Austin, Texas, to the Alamo and on to Vera Cruz, Mexico, taking part in the battle at Buena Vista. He was mustered out on June 17, 1847, at Camargo, Mexico. His service record there indicates he was paid "Am't for cloth'g in kind or money adv'd $42.00". His son, Edwin, told this compiler that they were discharged on the spot and left to find their way home. The return took many months and they were lost for a period of time in the desert. He also told a story of not having enough to eat and so they fed the horses first and then picked over the excrement for anything that went through undigested. This compiler will not comment on that tale. History of Morgan County[116] states that they left Mexico on ship across the Gulf of Mexico, so this may have been the case, landing somewhere in Texas. Compiler does not find any stories or items about what he was doing after 1847 (at age 20), and was unable to find any references in the 1850 or 1860 census records.

On August 7, 1862, he enlisted[33] for a period of three years as a sergeant in Capt. G. W. Fanning's Company F, 101 Reg't Illinois Infantry (at age 33 on the service record but really age 35) at Jacksonville, Illinois. His service jacket shows he was promoted to 2d Sgt in the period of September 2nd to October 31, 1862, and promoted to 1st Sgt. on April 13, 1863. He engaged in many important battles of the civil war, as Holly Springs, December 20, 1862, where he was taken prisoner; Wahatchie, October 28, 1863; Missionary Ridge, November 23-25, 1863, where the Union forces lost 5,824 of their 56,000 troops; Resaca, May 14 and 15, 1864; Carsville, Georgia, May 19, 1864, and Dallas, Georgia, May 25, 1864, and it was at this battle that he was "wounded in action May 25, 1864, sent to hospital" as reported on the May-June, 1864, muster roll. He remained in that status until the muster-out roll dated June 30, 1865, at Quincy, Illinois, indicated "He received a severe wound in the left side of head near Dallas, Georgia, May 25, 1864. Absent in hospital since. Mustered out in compliance with a telelgram from the AGO dated May 3, 1865." Monies were "due soldier, $14.65; bounty paid $25; due $75." He was honorably discharged June 30, 1865, at Quincy, Illinois.[33, 94]

Son, Edwin, told the story that when his father was wounded, the horse-drawn field ambulance wagon only had room for the seriously wounded so after it was loaded, the corpsman said that others who could stand on the "back step and hang on" could ride. This was the manner in which he left the battlefield and received subsequent medical attention.

There is a document in his service record showing that he had been taken prisoner and was "paroled" near Holly Springs, Mississippi, December 20, 1862. It would certainly appear that he was taken prisoner and, following a custom of the day, was paroled to return to civilian life with a promise not to participate further in the war. He promptly went back to his company to continue the engagement.

Edwin was in the hospital in Quincy for a long period of time and was even assigned to a duty station there. While in town on a day-pass, he saw a photography shop and decided on a lark to have his photo taken, that being quite the newest thing of the day. The photographer happened to be a woman, Nancy Jane (Rogers) Holden. He then decided to marry her.[105] Nancy Jane (Jennie) had been previously married and for details of that, see the Notes for Nancy. No mention was ever made in the family about that photograph.

He then returned to Morgan County with his bride and was a farmer, elected Justice of the Peace in 1868, serving in that office for nine years. He was a member of the Christian Church of Woodson and served as Clerk.[116]

The Jacksonville "Journal" on February 20, 1884, reported that Ed Henry "fell off (the) wood pile while viewing his home." They may have been referring to his current home, but I rather imagine it was referring to seeing the anticipated new home in the far west. I will leave this to the reader's speculation. But April 17, 1884, the same newspaper reported: "Squire Ed R. Henry, after a residence of more than 40 years in this vale of suckerdom, shook the Woodson clay from his feet on Tuesday, the 8th, with a ships crew of two mules. He steered his bark for Wichita, Kansas. Mr. Henry was a good citizen and religiously attached to the perpetuity of the old Union, having served his flag patriotically in two wars – Mexico and the Democratic rebellion of 1861-5."[120]

So on a Sunday morning, April 8th of 1884, at 57 years of age, in a covered wagon pulled by two mules with six children, ages 2 to 16, he and Jennie started their walk to Kansas. Edwin, Jr., was nine years old and told me of their walking all the way. Cooking over an open fire, setting up a tent every night, hunting fresh meat such as rabbits and quail. The spring rains brought flash floods, mud and mire, and unexpected river crossings.

The coming of the hot summer and the winds of the plains of Kansas where temperatures often exceed 100° presented a rather harsh picture to these gentle folk from the rich farmlands of Illinois. Traveling probably five to ten miles a day with all the problems encountered on the trail, they should have covered the 600 miles in about two to three months. Colds and ailments accompanied them through the trip. Edwin had some difficulty, having been wounded and having rheumatism[33] in the left leg, yet walking and driving the mules on the dusty/muddy trail. After finally arriving six or seven miles west of Dodge City on the Santa Fe Trail (at the present day Howell) they turned south across the flat, grassy plains stretching as far as the eye could see, where, five miles south (in Wilburn Township) he took out a homestead and proved up a farm.[79] They must have lived in a dugout the first winter for there was not a tree for miles around and no natural shelter, such as a caves or hills. The cold winds blowing down fiercely from the north, the freezing snow storms, and having that many people in one room must have been taxing on even the strongest of personal emotions and frayed nerves.

He left the farm after a short time and moved into Dodge City, where he took over the "Dodge House", often called the "Henry House".

He was a deputy sheriff under Wyatt Earp and was known for his bravery in that position. He must have continued work and proved up the homestead as Letters Patent were issued March 26, 1900.[131]

The family moved to Topeka in 1897, but it is not certain who all remained in the family at that time. Edwin, Jr., was gone and on his own. Son Harry Raymond Henry attended school with Bertha and introduced her to his brother, George.

After Ed's wife, Nancy Jane, passed away, he lived with his daughter, Sarah Irene (Henry) Andrews, for a short time and then with George and Bertha Henry in Los Angeles until his death on January 12, 1914. I believe he is buried in the Inglewood Cemetery.

Note the interesting analogies of the three generations:

As to births: Edwin, Sr., was born in 1827 and his grandson, Howard, was born in 1927, 100 years later, and at writing this book in 1999, three generations cover 172 years.

Another analogy is to marriages: Edwin, Sr., went to a studio and decided to marry Jennie right then. Edwin, Jr., rode through Nickerson, Kansas, on his horse and, stopping there for dinner one night, decided on the spur of the moment to stay and marry Grace. Howard had not seen Zona for 9 months, and then upon being with her at a party in Albuquerque, on the spur of the moment eloped that Sunday evening.

The Dodge City Democrat of November 12, 1887, has election returns for Concord Township and the following tally: P. D. Hand — 39; E. R. Henry — 9; D. W. Hays — 25; W. Lewis — 12; J. Rickner — 6; and D. W. Chase — 8, so Edwin was fourth in a field of six.

The newspaper "Daily Eagle", Jacksonville, Illinois, Tuesday, April 18, 1882: "The street sprinkler has got down to business and 'them mules' of Ed Henry's just simply make the water fly."[67]

The homestead land description is SW 1/4 Sec 34 TWP 28 South, Range 26 West of 6th PM.[131] Notice of delinquent taxes and payment of those taxes in 1913, one year prior to his death. The Land Sale Contract, signed by all children, sold that homestead for $4800 in April, 1916.[52] Letter of January 22, 1914, from an attorney shows his estate valued at $121.91 upon death.[60] Newspaper notice[70, p.3] and telegram.[70, p.14]

Letter from Bertha (Thornburg) Henry in possession of Georgia (Henry) Hutchinson, says: "Edwin referred to his wife as his little 'blue-eyed widow'". The family lived on a claim in Kansas until 1897 when they moved to Topeka. "There I went to grammar school with Raymond Henry and later met his brother, George, and we were married in 1902." (Bertha Henry letter).

Pension records of Edwin state he was married at Aledo in Mercer County, Illinois, and he states he lived in Morgan County up to 1884, Dodge City to 1890, Topeka to 1898, Galveston, 2 years, and St. Louis, 1891 to 1907.[94]

6. George W.[3] HENRY <See p. 17> (Richard[2], John[1]) was born in 1830 in Iowa. He was the son of Richard J. HENRY and Lucy PICKETT. George was buried in Jacksonville, Morgan County, Illinois, in Shepherds Cemetery. He married Mary Primus MC ALLISTER on 19 November 1853[50] in Morgan County, Illinois, she having been born on 15 October 1835. Mary died 27 September 1877, at the age of 41, and was buried in Woodson, Morgan,

Illinois.[61] He was called "Wash" and had three girls, but only two are known to compiler.[167]

They had 3 children:

18. f i. Lilly HENRY.
19. f ii. Laura A. HENRY.

NOTES for George:

Isabelle Kane viewed grave of George W., wife Mary P. McAllister, and two children Lilly and Laura A. at Shepherd's Cemetery south of Jacksonville, Morgan County, Illinois.[63] Also refers to sister of Edwin Henry, Sr., Lucy, who married J. W. McAllister (Did George and sister Lucy marry brother & sister?) and she viewed their graves there.[110] Compiler has no current record of Richard and Lucy having a daughter "Lucy". George's birth is shown as Jacksonville, Morgan County, Illinois, but prior information was Iowa. Could an error have occurred in transcribing IA and IL?[61] Name is shown as George W. in the probate letters, upon death of father, Richard.[76]

8. David Crockett[3] HENRY <See p. 17> (Richard[2], John[1]) was born 1835 in Illinois, the son of Richard J. HENRY and Lucy PICKETT and died 1862 of measles.[167] He married Mrs. HENRY on 28 June 1857.[128]

They had 2 children:

20. f i. Rosie HENRY, who married Henry BELL.
21. f ii. Louella HENRY, and she married Edward ASH.

GENERATION NO. 4

12. Isabelle[4] HENRY <See p. 20> (Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 3 August 1870 in Woodson County, Illinois, the daughter of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, and Nancy Jane "Jennie" ROGERS. Isabelle died 7 November 1910 in Galveston, Texas, at the age of 40, and was buried in St. Louis, Missouri. She married Theodore S. HENDERSON, who was born 3 June 1864 in Kentucky. Theodore died 16 January 1913 in St. Louis, Missouri, at the age of 48.

They had 1 child:

+ 22. f i. Evelyn May HENDERSON <See p. 41> was born 7 July 1886 and she died 12 April 1969.

Theodore S. Henderson

NOTES for Theodore:

"Theodore was quite active, searching for gold and a quick fortune. He did find gold and my father, Edwin, used to tell of his sister, Isabelle, coming for visits and wearing a leather pouch in her bosom containing gold nuggets for ready cash. He also told me of "T.S." holding a raffle for an oil claim in Texas and the authorities intervened as the lottery was illegal. He couldn't find all the people to give the money back, so he continued and held the raffle beyond the five-mile limit in the Gulf of Mexico. He had some trouble with lawsuits (see letters in file that this compiler has possession) but that was probably true of any person of some wealth.[174] He was also reported to have one of the first "franchises", if that's the correct word, for the new Singer sewing machine. Apparently he made quite a bit at that endeavor and Edwin said he was one of the first millionaires of Chicago.

Grace Henry told me that Isabelle left some farm land to them when she died, and that they attempted to farm it for a while, but lost it. It was near Newton, Kansas, where Georgia Mae Henry was born. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry.)

Theodore died of concussion. Burial was in Lot 5209, Blocks 54 & 63, Bellefontaine Cemetery, 4947 W. Florissant, St. Louis, Missouri.[110] I am confident this is the burial plot for him, his wife and mother-in-law.

NOTES for Isabelle:

Isabelle died from Cerebral Hemorrhage and was buried beside her husband, the location indicated just above.

13. Adelia Ellen[4] HENRY <See p. 20> (Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 17 September 1872[16] in Woodson, Morgan County, Illinois. She was the daughter of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, and Nancy Jane "Jennie" ROGERS. Adelia died 8 November 1947 in Edwardsville, Madison County, Illinois, at the age of 75.

She first was married to (1) John MEGIVENEY, believed to be a musician in Leadville, Colorado, where she had gone to visit a relative, working there in a dress shop. John died and they had no issue. She then moved on to San Francisco, where she met Joseph Walter Aylward Gilmor, and she Married (2) Joseph Walter Aylward GILMOR on 7 May 1898[110] in San Francisco, California. He had been born on 7 December 1857[16] in San Francisco, the son of John Anderson W. GILMOR and Eleanor AYLWARD. Joseph died 22 February 1924 in Edwardsville, Madison County, Illinois, at the age of 66.[110]

NOTES for Adelia:

She was a young girl twelve years of age when her parents emigrated to Kansas. When she was a young lady living in Leadville, Colorado, she married and became widowed. She then accompanied a family as a companion to their two children on the train to San Francisco. She worked in a millinery shop and then took a position as companion to an elderly woman, and subsequently married her son, Joseph Walter A. Gilmor. His father was a very prosperous merchant in San Francisco during the Gold Rush, dying July 21, 1868, and his body was interred in The Green-Wood Cemetery lot of his family in New York. His mother, then traveling with him and his wife, died in Colorado Springs, Colorado, and is buried there.[113] After living in Colorado and Arizona, they lived for a year in Mexico, returning to St. Louis, Missouri, after the birth of their second son.

14. Edwin Ruthvan[4] HENRY, II <See p. 20> (Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 24 July 1874 in Woodson, Morgan County, Illinois, the son of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, and Nancy Jane "Jennie" ROGERS. Edwin, II, died 22 May 1955 in Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas, at the age of 80, and was buried 26 May 1955 in Maple Grove Cemetery at Dodge City. He married Grace Louisa MEEKS <See number 286, p. 114, 121> 19 October 1903 in Lyons, Rice County, Kansas. She was born 26 October 1884 in Siloam Springs, Brown County, Illinois, the daughter of William Ward MEEKS and Mary Jane MYERS. Grace died 12 December 1972 at Fort Dodge, Ford County, Kansas, at the age of 88, and was buried 15 December 1972 in Maple Grove Cemetery in Dodge City.

They had 7 children:

+ 28.	m	i.	Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, III, was born 17 March 1905 and died 5 December 1970 <See p. 46, 168, 169>.
+ 29.	f	ii.	Georgia Mae HENRY, born 5 August 1907 <See p. 50, 175>.
+ 30.	m	iii.	Roger Harold HENRY, born 8 July 1909 and died 27 July 1964 <See p. 51>.
31.	m	iv.	Delburn Francis HENRY was born 8 December 1914[70(2)] in Pueblo, Pueblo County, Colorado, and died 9 June 1978[70(28)] in San Leandro, Alameda County, California, at the age of 63. He was cremated and the ashes spread in the Pacific Ocean.

Delburn attended Dodge City High School and played football and basketball there. He liked sports and didn't want to graduate so he could keep playing, but did. Being forced to go to work, he went to work with his brother in the dry cleaning business.

Delburn tended to get into a little trouble with drinking and after the police followed him home one night for nearly wrecking the cleaning shop delivery truck, he left town and went to Houston, Texas, where he worked as a bell-hop in the Rice Hotel. He seemed to enjoy that work, but the second world war started and he was inducted into the air force. He told me of being lined up at bootcamp and they were asking for cooks in the outfit. All he could see was guys with shovels in the hot sun and he said he was a cook! He remained so throughout his service career, though he had never cooked anything in his life. He was overseas, stationed in the Marianna Islands. He took his discharge in California and went to live with his brother, Roger, and family, and returned to the dry cleaning industry.

He was of slight build (5'6" or 5'7", 140 lbs), cigarette smoker, and a fairly heavy drinker until his later years when he developed liver problems and cancer of the mouth. He passed away at the San Francisco VA Hospital and his ashes were scattered at sea, as was arranged for and directed by him. I always heard that he had one true love · that didn't work out and he never accepted that fact and he remained single. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

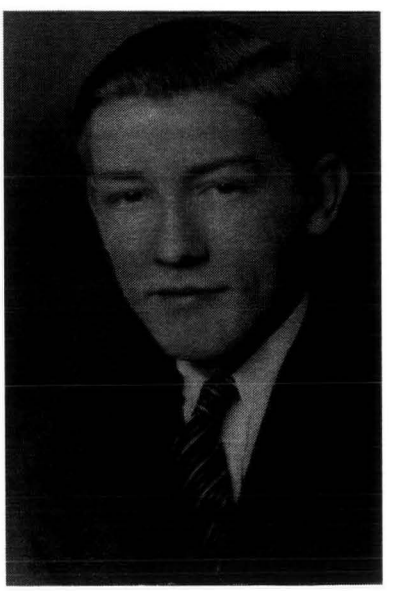
32. m v. Donald Eugene HENRY was born 29 November 1917 in Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas, and was shot and killed 3 September 1937, Belchite, Spain, at the age of 19.

Donald graduated Dodge City High School and went to Kansas University to study psychiatry. Probably because he was raised in the depression he was drawn to liberal causes. He became involved with the YMCA, the Young Communist League, and other youth groups at the university and became a leader in them. His first meeting was May 18, 1936, at the University. His K-book, or record book of activities, reflects his attending a "recruiting session" on March 12, 1937, and it is supposed this is a meeting where he was recruited to join the red forces in Spain. He also joined the American Student Union and served as President of the Kansas University group.



Donald Eugene Henry
Graduation 1936

In the summer of 1937 he and Kenneth Graeber, a close friend, went to New York where they embarked on the Acquitania, the ticket and $5 spending money being furnished by the Party. While in New York he was not permitted to call his brother lest their mission be disclosed (or perhaps he chose that option). A letter written at sea revealed an uneventful, but very interesting crossing.

Landing in Cherbourg, they went to Paris. There the Communist Party took possession of his passport and issued an identification card with the alias of Donald Eugene Scott, Code Number Q-207. Enlistment in a foreign service was prohibited by law, and, therefore, the passports were held with the intention to return them as they returned from the Spanish army service.

He received more funds and passage to the Spanish border, which they crossed on foot. That experience was told by Kenneth Graeber: "...the biggest thrill of my time there. It was the crossing the Pyrenees to get into Spain. The trip was made at night and took 14 hours, going up nearly every step of the way. Close watch was kept for border guards, and it was necessary to ford many mountain streams. I think it was the most thrilling of my experiences, because it was a romantic sort of thing. It was the kind of stuff I had read in books..."

There he first wrote home his true mission, the trip to Spain, and life in an army camp. He was supposed to be on a mercy mission of first-aid with the Red Cross, but upon arriving he was placed in the infantry, later transferring to the machine gun service. But he and Kenneth Graeber, took many hours of first-aid training. Donald had worked on the ambulance service in Dodge City and he was qualified for ambulance service. He had his pack stowed in the ambulance when he was ordered out of the vehicle because, being but 19 years of age, he was not a qualified driver.

One source, a transmittal report to the Dies Committee of the House of UnAmerican Activities Committee by a Special Committee by the Kansas House of Representatives, recites that he was moved into the front lines and after coming through the offensive against Quinto, he was killed during a drive against Belchite in the Aragon District. A bullet entered his chest and pierced a lung and he died the following day, September 3, 1937, in a temporary hospital near La Azaila. His grave was not marked and its location is unknown, but it is supposedly near the hospital. Ken Graeber, though, reported his death during an interview as follows: "On arrival in Spain, guards took the English-speaking to a training camp. Some were kept there three months but Graeber was assigned to ambulance duty in less than a month. He passed the test and then he suggested that Henry be given a chance. 'Don passed, too, and he had his clothes all packed in the car ready to leave, but for some reason the officials decided not to let him go. Perhaps they thought he was too young. But they gave him a more dangerous job as first aid man with the medical corps. He had to go out on the battlefields and bandage the wounded and summon the stretcher bearers.'" It was in the attack on Belchite in the Aragon province that Don was wounded. Graeber said, "His death came after he had been in actual warfare only two months. He was shot in the chest with a rifle bullet, and buried near a hospital at Azaila.'"

"Don was known as the crack first-aid man on the Lincoln battalion and I can say sincerely that he was respected and liked by all his comrades, for many of them went out of their way to tell me so. I was not with him when he was wounded, but I do know this: He was aiding his wounded comrades when under heavy fire he was hit. It was a position of great danger, but Don considered it his duty to be there."

Many of the papers and letters he wrote were taken as evidence by the Dies Committee in an investigation instituted by Donald's father. As a result of the investigation the Chancellor of Kansas University was implicated and hearings were held concerning the incident. There were many column inches of newspaper space devoted to the on-going investigation and several formal reports prepared. Articles, copies of letters, memorials.[119]

Donald never married. This compiler remembers well a "suitcase" that Don had for sending dirty clothing home every week or two and his mother would wash and iron them. Then by reversing a cardboard insert in the lid, it could be returned to him with the fresh, clean clothing.

As I remember seeing him, he was of slight build, perhaps 5'8", 150 lbs. Sister, Georgia, remembers him being blond headed and close to six-foot tall.

Let me set forth a poem written by his mother on a scratch paper With pencil, and found among the materials on file at the Abraham Lincoln Brigade Archives, located at the Brandeis University.

"My darling

"They laid him in a homley grave across the ocean wide, we know not where

"No sacred hymn was sung for him

"No man of god was there to offer prayer; those who loved him, mother, father were not there.

"God was there. His angels carried his dear soul to that home beyond the sky, that home not made with hands. three long years have passed yet we mourn we greive (sic) we can not understand

"Some bright day when that vail is lifted, ah yes we'll understand.

"Mother."

In 1998 I made a trip to Spain and toured the area and found his burial spot.[140] Newspaper article corrects date from letter of his friend at the Front in Spain.[70(2)] (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

NOTES for Grace Henry:

Grace was born in Siloam Springs, but that city is not indicated on a map of Illinois. She told me of going to Garden City on the train from Illinois when she was quite young, about 1890, I believe, and then taking a wagon to Ulysses, Kansas, a town about fifty miles west of Garden City. They apparently lived in a cave the first year until they could build a sod house, called a "soddie". She told of her father and perhaps her brother or uncles, who would go to Garden City for supplies in the wagon and be gone for several days, leaving the women alone. The Hannas and Deharts lived there as well. I don't believe she finished school or I never heard of it, anyway. Her mother died when Grace was quite young – perhaps nine – and Grace then had to raise her siblings. I understand her father was not too nice.

Grace Louisa Meeks
c. 1904

She went to Nickerson, Kansas, where She worked in a bakery/diner and met her spouse there. See his biographical description. She used to tell of having to cook, after she was married, for the prisoners in the jail where Edwin was a deputy. She was terrified of the place.

She told of when she was in Pueblo as a young lady that she and her sister would go dancing and leave Edwin to tend the kids. She was later a strict teetotaler, and would not knowingly permit any alcohol in her house. She was short (5'3") and always, as I remember her, fairly stocky. She was a night person and hated to go to bed "for fear of missing something". Never having much in way of luxury, she was a hard worker all her life, and seemed to not know the word "tired". (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Obit shows she went to Nickerson, Kansas, as a young girl with her family.[70 p.4] Club affiliations.[70 p.9] Obituary and news clippings from scrapbook, copies in files of Howard W. Henry.

NOTES for Edwin, II:

Ed was ten years old when the family moved from Illinois to Dodge City by covered wagon. He used to tell how the movies made it look so glorious -- horses and nice trails when in reality they had but an oxen for power and a cow for milk along the way to pull the wagon. (Other reports in his father's biographical sketch from newspaper articles state they used mules). You didn't ride; everyone walked the entire distance. The wagon was full of supplies and all their worldly possessions. They ate mainly rabbits and hardtack, covering about eight miles a day. His father homesteaded about five miles southwest of the city. They later sold that and moved into Dodge City about 1886.[70 p. 5 & 6]

Edwin Ruthvan Henry, II
Eighteenth Birthday 1892

When Ed was about 18 he and a friend took their horses and worked their way down to Arkansas and Louisiana, where they worked building railroads. He told Ken Hutchinson, Jr., and me about the ever-present bully who made life difficult for everyone in the camp. One day the bully took some of Ed's tools – a pick or shovel – and refused to return them. Finally Ed could put up with it no longer and after a rather heated argument, Ed took an ax handle and proceeded to "work over this bully." He got his tools back. To put some force in his efforts, Ed told the bully, "Every morning you come out here and say, 'good morning, Mr. Henry,' or I'll work you over again." Needless to say, the bully didn't remain at that job too long.

After traveling around the country for some time, Ed eventually landed in the Topeka-Kansas City area -- I am not sure just where -- and learned to deal cards. He was a dealer at a gambling casino for some time and was quite adept at "stacking the deck". Georgia Henry reported that he told the kids that if they thought they would make some easy money gambling to forget it because those dealers WERE going to win. He even taught me how to take the deck, once it had been cut, and with one hand in the air put it back to original stack.

In 1903, on one of his trips back to Dodge City, he and a friend "rode into town" at Nickerson, Kansas, and stopped at the local restaurant/bakery for dinner. Grace Meeks was working there at that time and he told his friend to go on, that he was going to stay and "marry this girl". (See comments on his father, who met and married his wife in much the same way.) I don't know just how long the courtship was, but they married one week before her 19th birthday. I asked mother why she didn't wait and do it on her birthday, and she said "He asked and I was afraid he'd get away in a week's time, so I didn't want to wait."

They went to Dodge City and he worked as a deputy sheriff for Ford County, and I understand lived at the jail in the basement of the county courthouse. I believe he worked for Sheriff Ham Bell. Mother talked about how this stupid man took her, a young girl, into a jail and she had to cook for the prisoners. She felt it was a rather dangerous position in which to put such a young girl, and I guess she was more than a little afraid.

Son Edwin was born in Hutchinson; Georgia was born in Newton; and Roger in Halstead. I am not sure what his occupation was, but it's apparent that he was moving around. I remember him telling me about having inherited some land from his sister, Isabelle, who was quite wealthy but that he soon lost it, not being a very good farmer. See T. S. Henderson, and letters in files.) This land was near Newton, where Georgia was born. They moved to Pueblo where he worked on the railroad, living at 1505 E. 6th. Many of Grace Henry's relatives lived in Pueblo. (See Hanna and Dehart). They moved back to Dodge City in about 1914, buying the Merchants' Delivery in 1914, and son Donald was born in that city in 1917. He had wagons and teams of mules and would deliver groceries or merchandise to residences for merchants. The business grew with the city and he made regular "buying trips" to Kansas City to buy mules, etc. It was also suggested that he went to "get out of town for a party" since Grace didn't permit gambling, drinking, or any evil activity in her home.

Merchants' Delivery Company 1914

The delivery service had several wagons and almost every teenage boy worked on the mule wagons -- kind of a community employer like the newspapers. He never made the transition to automotive power, I guess feeling the mule would never be replaced. I have no memory in my childhood of the wagons, so I feel that the business must have been discontinued about 1925. The economy slowed down, the depression was coming, and I remember dad telling me that he was just going for "one last good time" when he fathered me at 53. He was still painting Dr. Pine's house to pay for my delivery when I was a child. A photo of five mule wagons and some drivers dated 1914, so dad must have owned the wagons by that time. The depression came and by that time dad was 60 years old and he never worked again after that.

He did love to play pitch at the pool hall. I do remember he worked one summer during the second world war in the wheat fields on a combine, and by the end of the summer he was buying tailor-made cigarettes and he never rolled another one after that. We kids loved it when he smoked Bull Durham rolling tobacco and we had lots of little sacks for marbles and valuable little things. He smoked for about 65 years, dying of heart failure two months before this 81st birthday.

He certainly had a full life and saw the American scene change from covered wagon to supersonic jets, and preparation for the flight to the moon. He was tall and slender (6'2" 150 lbs) and had rather good health all his life. He told me that on one of his buying trips while on the train he had used a towel that you pull down to get a clean area, and, contacting some disease, lost his right eye completely. Georgia reports that she believes he lost it from a cataract surgery that went wrong. After the operation his eye would not hold and would roll back up under the lid, and caused a great deal of pain. He would have to lie down flat until the eye rearranged itself. He later then had it removed and wore a glass eye.

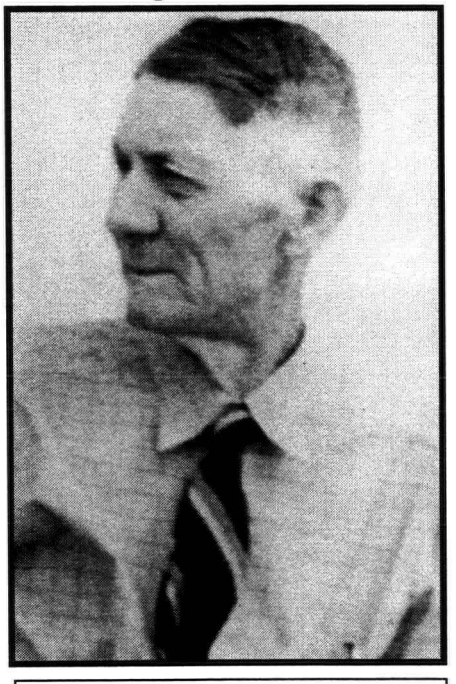
Putting in his glass eye was always fascinating to us kids. For fun, I guess, sometimes he would put it in upside down. But I learned early in life to always walk on his right side. He had gum disease and his teeth all got very loose and since there wasn't money enough for a dentist, he just pulled them himself. He never did go to the dentist, but let his gums get tough, never using false teeth. Georgia doesn't remember when that occurred, but it was late in life. I never saw him with teeth, so it must have been in the late 1920s.

I could never forget his admonishment to me: We may not have much, but I have passed on to you an honorable and untarnished name. Keep it that way and pass it on untarnished to your children. He felt that he may not have had much to leave me in worldly goods, but he did leave me an honorable name. I have attempted to keep it that way and pass it on to my children. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

"Ed bought the Merchants' Delivery. I forgot who had it. It was six delivery wagons and mules. The barn was located, I think, a couple of blocks east of the Fairmont Creamery building (Dodge City, Kansas) and old Ben Hodges had a hut owned by the city where he lived next to the barn. Hodges was an old horse thief whose tendons were cut so he could no longer ride. He was an early settler. In a book called Old Dodge City there is a write up on him. Also Dad's picture with others is in the old Stone House (Museum) on Avenue A (Schmidt Residence) as one of the early settlers.

"As a young man in Dodge City, Ed worked for Ham Bell in the livery stable. He worked there when Bat Masterson came to town. The homestead that grandpa Henry took out was between Ensign and Minneola. His family then lived in a place on what is now boot hill. They held church (Christian) in this home.



Edwin R. Henry 2d 1948

"I remember one summer dad had cut wheat and we had a 'cook shack' which later was the wash house on Avenue C. They did all the harvest work with mules, header barges. Goldie Bishop cooked for the harvest crew. Roger and I was there. I can't recall the sleeping arrangements but I remember the big long tables used to feed the men in the cook shack. I don't recall how long we were there, but for entertainment, Roger and I caught grasshoppers and at night we counted them, pulling off their heads.

"And we had an old mule to ride, 'Jinny.' She would get scared and buck us off. She would head for the hay rack and Rog and I had to walk back.

"Dr. Pine and his nurse, Elizabeth O'Neal, delivered, at home, Don, Connie, Howard, Ken Hutchinson, Jr., Beverly and Delburn Hutchinson." (Recollections of Georgia Mae (Henry) Hutchinson).

"One of the stories Uncle George (George Henry) told me was that they lived south of the river in Dodge City and that the kids north of the river would gang up on them. George assured me that my Grandpa could lick just about everyone in Dodge City. Also, I asked Grandpa if he ever really cheated at cards. No one wants to think their Grandpa is a cheat. His response was simply, 'I never cheated if I was winning'.

"I have often wondered how two people like Grandpa and Grandma, so different in many ways, could live together in such apparent harmony. Grandpa was by no means a drinker but he did enjoy a beer at the pool hall and Grandma wouldn't drink root beer because it had the nasty name 'beer'. Grandpa was a gambler and card shark while Grandma wouldn't play cards of any kind - she would play Rook, but they weren't the devil's cards.

"Grandpa never, to my knowledge, set foot in a church – though mom says he did attend church somewhat in his earlier years - while Grandma went to church every Sunday and read the Bible every day. They must have had some magic ability to pretend not to notice the differences. Grandma was a true stoic. Though she had iron beliefs and principles, she never seemed to notice or make an issue of deviation from those principles in her family – and heaven knows, she had some in her family that violated many if not all of her principles. In retrospect, she actually seemed to favor the prodigals. Maybe she had the same magic ability to not notice the faults of her children.

"Grandpa died a week before Darlene and I were married, so none of my children ever knew him. My fondest recollections were taking him to town and home from the pool hall. When I was working in high school, mom would encourage me to give Grandpa spending money to play pitch. If you gave Grandpa $5 and a month later you asked how he was doing, he would still have $2 left and complain of having a bad losing streak.

"The other thing I remember was when everyone was trying to get Grandpa to stop driving that old 1931 Chevy that I think belonged to you (Howard Henry). Mom got me to buy it from Grandpa. That wonderful old man stuck it to me. He made me pay $35 for a 20-year old car that got 20 miles per quart of oil, wouldn't stay in high gear, had a broken windshield, and a wiper that only wiped one direction. I should have used his favorite line, 'If you want to rob me, get a gun.'" (An editor's note from Howard Henry: When I got home from the Navy in 1946 dad had bought that 1931 green Chevy, and I thought it was swell that we at last had an automobile. The second day he hit me up for my $100 mustering out pay I got upon separation from service to pay for it!)

"I can also remember how mad he got one day when I took him to the doctor. Grandpa passed a Dodge City policeman that was weating a green satin western-cut shirt and a black Stetson hat. All of Dodge City was going western – they were trying to get the Cowboy Hall of Fame. Back to the story, Grandpa was disgusted and I asked him why. He said something like this, 'I would like to see him wearing a black hat back in '83. Some Texas cowboy would have jerked it off and shot it full of holes. Cowboys didn't wear black hats. The only people that wore black hats were Mexican sheepherders.'

"I also remember reading the biography of Wyatt Earp. The book is titled 'Wyatt Earp – Frontier Marshal'. The book contains excellent descriptions of Dodge City and Grandpa would verify them for me. He even verified many of the people and stories from the Dodge City Daily Globe." (Recollections of Delburn Raymond Hutchinson.)[117]

17. Harry Raymond[4] HENRY <See p. 22> (Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 21 March 1882. He was the son of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, and Nancy Jane "Jennie" ROGERS. Harry died 16 May 1974, at the age of 92. He married Isabella PIERCE on 10 May 1911. She had been born 15 June 1878[144] the daughter of Henry Miller PIERCE, Jr., and Mary Jane CHURCH[103] and died in April of 1973 at Costa Mesa, California.[144]

They had 1 child:

+ 35. m i. Harvey Pierce HENRY <See p. 61>.

NOTES for Isabella:

Isabella, commonly known as "Becky", attended St. Louis Art Institute, where she met H. Raymond Henry, also a student. She did some very beautiful paintings, specializing in minitures on ivory. She had some exquisite nudes on ivory when we visited them in about 1969 at Laguna Beach.

She told me once of her family history, and I believe it was her father that was a doctor or medic in the civil war, and was supposed to have thought up with the organization of horse drawn field ambulances, and was credited with having saved many lives. She was certainly proud of him. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

In 1993 Compiler heard from Isabella's niece, Mrs. Gerald Lavagnino and her daughter Mrs. Jay (Virginia) Leipzig and their two girls and one boy. Virginia tells me Becky was from Riga, New York, so one could check records in that area for more information concerning her. Her birth is listed as June 28 in a birthday calendar of Grace Louisa Henry, her sister-in-law.[77]

NOTES for Harry:

Harry was an accomplished artist, as well as his wife. He studied at the St. Louis Art Institute and met Isabella there in 1907. They operated a gallery and studio at San Juan Capistrano, California, for nine years during the Thirties, and he reports having entertained a half-million people there.

While in the Navy I met Harry and "Becky" at their Hollywood studio in 1945. I didn't disclose my identity when I went in the studio. He was then working on a 9'x12' canvas of the Grand Canyon and I told him it was fair, but my uncle was an artist and could do much better. He then caught on and recognized me. The picture is said to hang somewhere on the Union Pacific Railroad in Nebraska.[70, p.7] He took me to the USO in Hollywood, driving there in his 1929 auto, a big four-door square car, handsome thing, but old. I was 18 and anxious to "dance with the stars." I don't remember much about doing that, but I do remember very well the girls around him, listening to his stories. He was a dashing, debonair man with white hair, white goatee, and a French beret. Our family visited he and Becky in about 1969 in Laguna Beach. I remember their small apartment, with the walls covered with pictures – big ones! And some of Becky's miniture oils on ivory were most exquisite! Later when we were building a new home, I wrote to find out if he knew who might own a picture he painted of "Natividad Aguilar", a girl born on Christmas Day, who was a direct descendant of the first family to build a private adobe dwelling outside the Mission San Juan Capistrano, California. Becky wrote back that, as normal, the frame had been broken in about 1940 and he put it in a storage bin to fix it later – and it was still there in the box! We were able to obtain the original oil. He was most anxious to sell it to me, since I was the first Henry who ever offered to pay for a picture! And sell it he did, for $50. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry). 23. Harry Alyward[5] GILMOR <See p. 29> (Adelia[4], Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 7 February 1899[16, 112] in Manatou, El Paso County, Colorado, the son of Joseph Walter Alyward GILMOR and Adelia Ellen HENRY. Harry died 18 April 1988[144] in Pasadena, Harris County, Texas. He married Gladys Lucille STARKEY on 5 June 1933 at Lake Charles, Calcasieu County, Louisiana. She was born 19 April 1912 in Pasadena, Texas, the daughter of Luther Edgar STARKEY and Cora LOWRY.

They had 2 children:

+ 37. f i. Harriet Jean GILMOR, born 13 February 1936. <See p. 63>.

38. m ii. Richard Marcus GILMOR, born 12 April 1939 in Houston, Harris County, Texas, and died in infancy in November, 1940, in Houston, Texas, of cancer (lymphoma) and buried at the Forest Park Lawndale Cemetery, Houston, Texas.

NOTES for Harry and Gladys:

In 1941 he was living in Houston and had worked for Shell Oil for 16 years at that time. He began in a plant in Illinois and transferred to Texas. He married a Texas girl, Gladys. "He completed the 8th grade and had to quit school and help support the family. He worked on the horse drawn ice wagons at 14 years of age, and various other jobs. He finally went to Dodge City, Kansas, and worked for his uncle, Edwin R. Henry, on the mule powered merchant delivery wagons. He dated many young ladies there. He finally left, though, his chief mode of travel being the freight train and living in hobo camps. He ended up in Elk Mountain, Wyoming, working as a ranch hand.

"After ranching, he lived in Idaho for a while and dug potatoes. A man working with him owed him some money and promised to pay it back on pay day. That day came, and the man was gone, having drawn his pay early and headed for Dallas. Harry wanted his money, so he went looking for the man. He was not successful in finding him, but did find...a letter waiting for him from his mother advising the illness of his father so he returned to Edwardsville.

"His father was ill and later diagnosed as manic depressive and at one time was admitted to the state mental hospital in Springfield, Illinois. After this time he was unable to walk.

"In about 1928 he went to work for Shell Oil at Wood River, Illinois. In 1932 he went to Houston, Texas, to work for Shell Oil Refinery at Deer Park. He retired in January 1961 after 33 years.

"After arriving in Pasadena, Texas, he lived in an apartment house. Being a small town, there was no entertainment, and he would sit on the porch with the owner of the rooming house and chat. A fellow came around and Harry asked where he had been. He responded that he was out at the strawberry farm and was dating one of the girls. Harry wanted to go meet some of the girls and he went the next week and met Gladys. They dated about six months, and married at Lake Charles, Louisiana." (Personal reflections, Harriet Gilmor Kristof)[118]

Her father was a prominent strawberry farmer in the early part of the 1900's.[118]

"I used to enjoy spending evenings with Harry – he always sat in a director's chair in the garage. Gladys wouldn't let him smoke his pipe in the house. Harry was about 60 when I moved here (Houston) and had just retired.

"I worked for Phillips Chemical Company and we rented a house in Pasadena just a few blocks from where Harry lived in South Houston. I started smoking a pipe and would sit with him in the garage in the evenings. When he would start telling a story, he would always ask if you wanted the long version or the short version. The truth is, the stories Harry told sounded like BS, but after you got to know Harry you realized he had probably done them because Harry would do and say almost anything.

"Eat, damn, Harry could eat. Gladys was a wonderful southern cook, and just to pester Gladys he would lavish Darlene (my wife) with praise about her Yankee food whenever they came for dinner.

"Harry was an unforgettable character. I embarrassed myself at his funeral. I was thinking about some of the things Harry did and I couldn't help but laugh. Harry was a true-to-life Archie Bunker. And tight, he was as tight as a tick – he had half of the first dollar he ever made. All he wore around the house were thongs. When one pair was just about worn out, he would remove the strap and glue the remainder onto the bottom of the new pair.

"I'm sure you knew that Harry came to Kansas and lived with Grandpa (Edwin R. Henry) for some time before he moved to Texas. Apparently he thought he was a real lady's man. There is one story about him getting caught in a barn with one of the girls by the nuns at St. Mary's of the Plains – the girl's school north of the water tower in Dodge City, Kansas. In his escape he caught the belt of his camel colored overcoat on a barbed wire fence. The next day he got Roger or Deb (Roger Henry; Delburn Henry) to dye the overcoat dark brown at the cleaners (where they worked). The girl was the daughter of the owner of the grocery store that was on Chestnut Street. Hutch (Kenneth Hutchinson, Jr.) drove a delivery truck for him (for the store in later years). I think it was (name omitted).

"Harry was one funny dude. He always referred to Gladys as a cotton patch Texan. She was extremely poor, according to him. Harry said all she had to wear were overalls. (All this is denied by Gladys!). Gladys was immaculately clean. A cockroach would starve to death in her house. She had a dog that she wouldn't let walk on the floor. She had the dog trained to stay on a sheet in the living room. That poor dog was condemned to a 54"x72" pen without walls.

"I really liked Harry. When I moved back to Texas City after being in the Air Force, I would stop by to visit Harry whenever I came to Houston. Delburn (son, Delburn John Hutchinson) always liked to stop at Harry's. Harry was close to 90 when he died." (Recollections of Delburn Raymond Hutchinson).[117]

Edward Anthony Kane, Sr.

Isabelle Irene (Gilmor) Kane - 1982

NOTES for Isabelle and Edward:

Isabelle was a genealogist and had an extensive file. Name and biographical material in Reference 16.

"Isabelle and husband are in city (Edwardsville) and he is going in business with his father. He has a 2-year-old boy."[51]

"They spent their first eleven years of marriage living in Denver, Seattle, San Francisco, Chicago, Washington, D.C., and Raleigh, North Carolina, returning to Edwardsville, Illinois, in 1940 where Mr. Kane joined his father in the architectural profession."[51]

Edward's father was an architect and Ed knew prior to high school that he wanted to follow in his footsteps. He worked in the office while attending school and college at Washington University in St. Louis. Funds were short during the depression and with his older brother attending the University of Illinois, Ed followed his brother's advice and with his new bride headed west to Denver to find and join a reputable atelier. This would give him a strong base for a future architectural career. He joined the Atelier Denver and it was here that he was introduced to the theories of the Beaux-Arts Institute of Design, from the school by the same name in Paris.

He then went to San Francisco in about 1932 and worked and studied for a period of time there. He became friends with a French student who urged him to travel to Paris and attend the Ecole de Beaux-Arts. From San Francisco he traveled to Chicago and studied and worked under many noted architects. He produced several hundreds of drawings. The collection of some 300 drawings are housed at the University Museum, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Illinois.[145]

"Isabelle Kane is a member of the firm, and her hobbies are inventing and genealogy. Edward, her husband, has enjoyed a very successful career in architecture and is still very active in his business. He has given much of his time to civic affairs, being listed in the 1968 publication of Outstanding Civic Leaders of America, organized the Southern Illinois Chapter of The American Institute of Architects for his untiring services to the profession. He was chairman of the Celebration of Madison County's Sesqui-Centennial (1818-1968) and is a member of the Historical Committee for the American Revolution Bicentennial (1776-1976)."[61, 62, 66]

28. Edwin Ruthvan[5] HENRY, III <See p. 30> (Edwin, II[4], Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 17 March 1905 in Hutchinson, Reno County, Kansas, the first child of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II, and Grace Louisa MEEKS. He died on 5 December 1970 in Rochester, Monroe County, New York, at the age of 65, and was cremated. He married Olga Matilda Pauline GERWIG <See number 850, p. 168, 169> on 27 August 1932 in Columbus, Franklin County, Ohio, at her home.[173] She was born 21 August 1906 in Columbus, Ohio, the daughter of Gustav Carl GERWIG and Julia Ida BERKLEY. Olga died 4 July 1998 at her home in Oradell, New Jersey.

They had 2 children:

+ 50. m i. Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, IV, born 11 July 1938 <See p. 67, 148>.

51. m ii. Donald Carl HENRY, born 11 September 1941. He married Barbara Christine SCHOFIELD <See number 815, p. 161> on 23 June 1979 in the United Nations Chapel in New York City. Barbara was born 28 December 1947 in Leeds, England, the daughter of John Colin SCHOFIELD and Dora Hallas RAWCLIFFE.

NOTES for Olga:

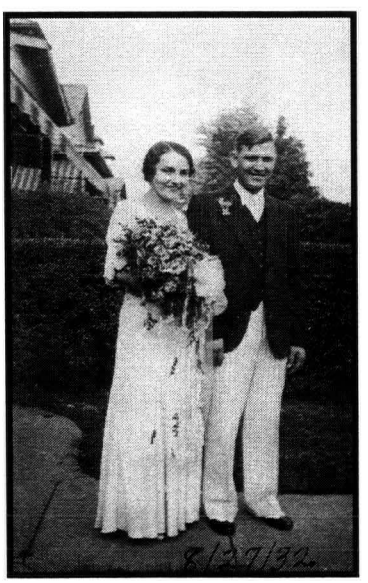
Olga graduated from high school in Columbus, Ohio, and was working there in a hardware store as a secretary. Her girl friend dated a friend of Edwin and introduced them. When they had a date, Edwin would borrow a car or he would take the "owl" trolley at night from the south end of Columbus.

After Edwin graduated with his doctorate in 1931 he went to New York University and got an instructorship earning $2500 a year, and they married in 1932 in a simple ceremony taking place in her parent's home in the living room.[70(7)] Edwin's sister, Georgia, attended from Kansas, representing the family. Olga remembers that her father brewed his own beer. They lived nine months in a walk up apartment costing $50 a month.

Son, Edwin Henry, IV, was born in 1937 with lung problems and they "traded" a professorship with a New Mexico University psychologist and lived in Albuquerque at 3314 Monte Vista, NE, for a year, that being sufficient time to cure young Edwin's problem. (Conversation with Olga Gerwig Henry September 28, 1992; Howard W. Henry).

NOTES for Edwin, III:

Edwin was a PhD psychologist graduating from high school at Dodge City, Kansas, in 1923, completing the course in three and a half years and worked full time. He attended Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, and after four,and half years he received his bachelor's of science in 1928 while working full time and majored in five disciplines -- chemistry, biology, geology, philosophy and psychology. He also was awarded the Master of Science degree from Kansas University in inorganic chemistry by studying there on weekends. He was awarded five scholarships at Columbia, Yale, Harvard, Chicago and Ohio State University. He chose Ohio for various reasons not set forth here. He received a Masters in Arts in 1929 and PhD in Psychology from Ohio State University in 1931.[70,(11, 12)] Immediately after graduation he was employed as an instructor in psychology at New York University.



Edwin Ruthvan Henry 3d, and Olga Gerwig Wedding August 1932

Olga Matilda Pauline Gerwig, 1931

Returning to Columbus the summer of 1932 he married Olga Matilda Pauline Gerwig and spent the summer working on a project for the Ohio state government.[141] He served as a civilian in Washington during World War II, his eyes not being adequate for active military duty, suffering from the same affliction as his sisters, Georgia and Doris Constance Henry, where the eyes constantly move up and down. One doctor diagnosed this condition as nystagmus and seems to be caused from albino tendencies. His work there consisted of developing aptitude tests and other psychological tests for military inductees. In 1945 he was named Chief Psychologist of the War Department. He remained with the War Department until 1947 and in May of 1948, he was awarded the Exceptional Civilian Service Award, the highest honor for civilian participation in the war effort. The program was inaugurated in October, 1943, and at the end of 1947 there had been 728 awards with 72 being awarded for the year 1947.

In 1962 he was appointed as Chief, Division of Selection of the Office of the Peace Corps under President Kennedy.[70, p.11] When President Eisenhower retired from military life, and since he knew Edwin from his war time services, he asked Edwin for advice on what he should do with his life. Edwin asked who he admired the most and President Eisenhower said his brother, who was president of a university. Edwin told him that was one endeavor he should look into. Subsequently, President Eisenhower did become the president of Columbia University.

Edwin was one of the early leaders in the area of industrial psychology and authored and co-authored some 55 texts and scientific papers. He was chief psychologist for Standard Oil of New Jersey with offices in Rockefeller Center, New York City. He traveled the world in that endeavor. Upon retiring from Standard Oil he returned to his love, teaching, at the University of Rochester where he originated the PhD program for the Graduate School of Management. His son, Hank, tells the anecdote when Ed and a friend one day were going to the a ski lodge the friend had built in Vermont, and leaving work early Friday afternoon the friend remarked that it was nice they could leave early and not have to punch a time clock. Ed replied: "Yes, it's a good thing we get paid for what we know and not what we do."

He had a second love after Olga, the lake house at Great Sacandaga Lake in mid-New York state.

He was about 6', 200 pounds, full of energy and liked working around the house. He died of cancer of the lymph nodes in Rochester, New York, just after retiring and planning to do many things. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

"Ed, he was called this by me and by most everyone, even his sons, although son Edwin (Hank) usually called him pappy, always treated me as a daughter and I reciprocated. Throughout his remaining years I was his 'Gal Friday' at 428 Demarest (Oradell, New Jersey). Hank and I had bought the house, but Ed and Olga maintained it as their legal residence, and we all were his driver, as he had lost so much eye sight he dared not drive. Ed and Olga and Hank and I spent much of our time together when he was not traveling for we often were living in the same house. Also, we spent as much time at 'the Lake', the old renovated farmhouse at Great Sacandaga Lake in the Adirondacks of New York, as time allowed. An old pair of cut off bib overalls, socks with no elastic and an old pair of shoes was his favorite outfit when the weather cooperated. With his fishing pole, a can of beer, a few June Bugs, and his ever present cigar or cigarette, he went off usually with Hank to do his 'best thinking' or to catch 40 winks. I never knew a person who could take a nap so easily and be so refreshed. He always referred to himself as a 'Kansas wheat farmer' and took great satisfaction digging in his garden. In Oradell he planted his Victory Garden, and, as Hank puts it, 'had a business trip' leaving the weeding and gathering to the boys. After 1963 when they finally were able to buy the Lake place, he planted with my help a large flower and vegetable garden there.

"I first met Ed the Thanksgiving of 1959 when I came 'up' (remember, I am a Maniac) with Hank from the University of Maine. Hank and I had run into foul weather so we were very late arriving. Ed was fast asleep, but Olga, the anxious mother (What is this girl my son is bringing home?) was awaiting us. I was felt welcomed, accepted then – and from then on. After Olga died I found a letter to Hank responding to a much later request inviting me to visit them. 'Yes, I like her.' I had always believed it.

"Hank and I 'went together' five years before we were married so by that time I had become a quasi member of the family. I had two years of college to finish and a year of teaching before we were married, so I could visit only at school vacation time.

"He was with Exxon at that time and Olga, with his martini, met him at the train each evening. New Year's Eve was spent at White Birches Country Club with Olga's friends. It was a formal all-night affair. The announcement that we were to be married did not surprise them.

"At this time Ed had accepted the position with the Peace Corps. From this time on, Hank and I maintained a B&B, a dog sitting service, an answering service, an accounting and bill paying service for them until he died.

"Ed was the 'spender' of the household, but he was not a spendthrift and at times darned right frugal. The only time I ever heard them really disagree was over money. At the Lake he refused to use his wheelbarrow in which to mix cement – it was too good. So I found a used one at a garage sale, tied a large red ribbon to it and presented it to him at Christmas. Even though he was forced by the family to use it, it is still useable today.

"A response to my question 'Just what do you do as an industrial psychologist?' is a definite rememberance. 'I was presented with the following problem. Longshoremen were having too many accidents on the docks in Buenos Aires. What can be done? I spent several days observing the activity on the docks, and came up with the answer. They were all hurrying, became careless and fell. Now if we slowed them down, productivity would be lost. That was bad for the company. My suggestion - teach them to fall without hurting themselves.'

"I remember him as being accepting, equal and comfortable with anyone and everyone – as if he 'had been there and done that – from President Johnson to Walt Robison, the glove worker, farmer and neighbor at the Lake.

"The Lake – when Ed and Olga were first married, as I understand, they lived in a Manhattan five-floor walk-up, and it was in the Depression. The summers were hot and there was little work. A co-professor, Robbie Robison and his wife, Allie, invited Ed and Olga to visit them at the Robison home in Cranberry Creek on the shores of at that time Sacandaga Reservoir where they lived 'off the land'; Walt, the brother of Robbie, had a garden and the lake was full of fish. Ed was in his 'glory'; Olga was not too sure, but they spent the summer. And other summers and vacations! Robbie bought the house next door, and after moving to North Carolina, left this place almost entirely in Ed and Olga's care and for their use. At first it had no electricity and no plumbing. Upon purchasing the place, it underwent renovation from a rustic camp to a summer home where they spent their summers from 1966 to his death in 1971. Olga continued to spend her summers there until she could no longer physically make the trip." (Reflections of Beverly Farnham Henry).

Georgia Mae (Henry) Hutchinson - 1924

NOTES for Georgia and Ken:

Georgia graduated from Dodge City, Kansas, high school but never attended college. She and sister, Connie, and brother, Edwin, suffered from what has been diagnosed as nystagmus, a condition where the eyes constantly move and jump. She married at 18, her spouse being employed at ATSF Railroad.

"Grandpa had a major impact on her character. She's a competitive woman with independent character and pride which she passed on to her children and many of the young men that lived with her. She wouldn't back down from any adversity or admit defeat in any situation. She made lasting friendships and had a role model impact on many in her inner circle." (Recollections of Delburn Raymond Hutchinson).[117]

· She ran a "boarding house" for junior college boys in Dodge City in the Forties and in the Fifties they moved to Hutchinson, Kansas, where she operated a home for the Health and Welfare Department for displaced children. She and Ken were the first house parents in the men's dormitory at the Hutchinson Jr. College. After Kenneth's retirement from the railroad in 1975, they moved to Cimarron, Kansas, living near their daughter, Beverly. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Kenneth was a very quiet, mild mannered gentleman who didn't talk much and never used profane language. I never heard him raise his voice. He really wanted to serve and help his fellow man. He was a member of the Lions Club for fifty years, secretary many of those years, and president. His early work in the station department on the Santa Fe Railroad took him to many of the small towns of southwestern Kansas. He made that his lifetime career and retired after fifty years having worked every position, such as supervisor of the freight house, many years as a ticket clerk, and other station functions.[165] He was a great believer in the boy scouts and was active for many years, holding many positions, including being a scoutmaster, and taking boys on camping trips. He was an avid coin collector, mainly of pennies, and his greatest joy was finding an old can full of them where he could inspect them and sort them for hours. He built several penny books for his grandchildren. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

30. Roger Harold[5] HENRY <See p. 30> (Edwin, II[4], Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 8 July 1909 in Halstead, Harvey County, Kansas, the son of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II, and Grace Louisa MEEKS. Roger died 27 July 1964 in San Leandro, Alameda County, California, at the age of 55, and was buried in Hayward, Alameda County, California. He married Katherine D. PRYOR in Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas. She had been born on 3 October 1907, the daughter of N. Howard PRYOR, who died in Dodge Cityk Kansas, at the Age of 64[168] and Anne Pryor NORINGTON. Katherine died on 10 January 1976 in San Leandro at the age of 68, and was buried 13 January 1976 in the Chapel of Chimes beside Roger.[70(2)]

They had 2 children:

55. f i. Patricia Diane HENRY, born 6 November 1940 in Yakima, Yakima County, Washington. Pat was previously married to Al Reymundo and divorced in 1976, with no issue. She remarried to a Coleman, brother of her brother-in-law, Ronald. That marriage was very short and ended in divorce in the early Eighties. Pat has dark hair and lots of poise, like her mother. She was diagnosed as having breast cancer, but chemotherapy and other treatment arrested the condition. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry)

Patricia D. Henry 1984

"I worked at Hanes DSD Leggs Division for nine years. Then I worked as a sales rep and district manager. Later I moved to Los Angeles and worked at Rand McNally map company for five years as sales rep and district manager. I returned to the Bay area and worked for USA Maps as a sales rep about two years and then took over an antique shop.

"Pam (Henry) and I entered into the Antique Shop business in 1992. We rent space and have 11 other dealers in our building. The business is good and the clientele seems to be growing each year. Hobbies are doll collecting, of which I have about 100, and bears." (Autobiographical sketch, 1995).

+ 56. f ii. Pamela Ann HENRY, born 19 January 1946 <See p. 72>.

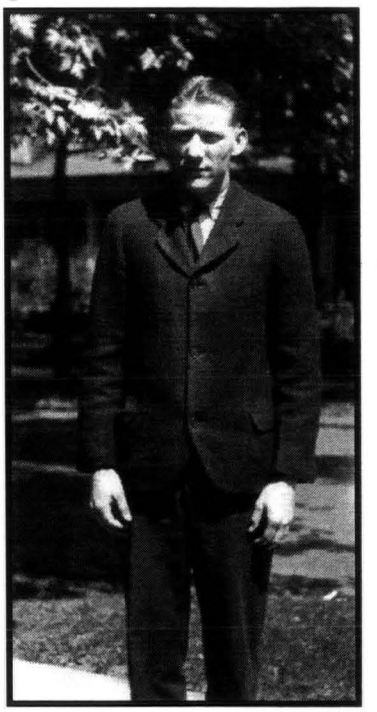
NOTES for Katherine:

Katherine - "Katy" - was a slim-figured beautiful lady. She had been married previously, but I don't believe there was any issue. I think she was married in Dodge City. She was manager of Sweetbrier's, a ladies clothing store, when I first met her. I sold weekly magazines and delivered them to the door. I was always very fond of her, and she would embarrass me sometimes in the store, having the women look at my "curly eyelashes." After the second world war, brother-in-law, Delburn Henry, moved in with the family and lived in the garage. It had been remodeled into a sleeping room with 3/4 bath. He stayed with them off and on for 30 years. I lived with the family for one winter while going to school in San Francisco. It was much more than Katy should have had to put up with, especially in such a small home with two girls of her own, but she did. She is remembered as a very kind and beautiful woman. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Her obituary[70] shows her sisters Loretta (Pryor) Addison; Lila (Pryor) Bolen; Lorena (Pryor) Harman, and brother George Pryor. There is reference in the obituary to grandchildren, and in particular Alice Reymundo, who was a step-daughter of her daughter, Patricia, married to Al Reymundo, and she being his child.

She was a native of Larned, Kansas, and was of the Catholic religion. I remember, as a child, attending a funeral for a Pryor in Larned at a Catholic church. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Georgia (Henry) Hutchinson has a memo in her possession which shows that Katherine was born on October 3, 1907, which I use for the date here.



Roger Harold Henry
c. 1937

NOTES for Roger:

He was buried at the Chapel of Chimes Cemetery. Roger was in the dry cleaning business all his life. He and Katherine married about 1938, I think shortly after he had purchased a dry cleaning business in Dodge City, the Peter Pan Cleaners. That was subsequently sold about 1939 when they left Dodge City, going to Reno, Nevada, then to Washington State, and eventually ending up in San Leandro, California, in about 1943. He and Delburn would get in some good arguments, have several drinks, and settle the problems of the world. He was a mild mannered man and devoted to his family and home. He never liked to travel - at least he didn't travel. I always thought being around the cleaning solvent fumes for so many years had a profound effect upon his health.

He was about 5'9" and medium build. He was a football and basketball player in high school and then attended Ohio State University for about two years. Compiler remembers when Roger would open the window of the dressing room of the gymnasium on game night and Howard Henry and Kenneth Hutchinson would sneak into the games.

Compiler remembers when Roger broke his ankle during a game and had to be on crutches – and got the bed to himself at home! In a four-room house where everyone shared beds, it was a disadvantage to the other kids. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

33. Doris Constance[5] HENRY <See p. 33> (Edwin, II[4], Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 7 August 1922 in Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas, the daughter of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II, and Grace Louisa MEEKS, was always known to everyone as Connie.

Connie married (1) Dale HAGER at Dodge City in about 1940 and divorced in 1944. They had no issue.

She then married (2) Harold Randolph KETTERMAN <See number 940, p. 184, 185> on 27 February 1946 in Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas. He was born 27 April 1922 in Dodge City, the son of Harold Rufus KETTERMAN and Bessie Mae BECK. Harold died 17 September 1965 in Kansas City, Jackson County, Missouri, at the age of 43, and was buried 21 September 1965 in McPherson, McPherson County, Kansas.

They had 2 children:

57. f i. Kristi Lynn KETTERMAN, born 9 July 1957 in McPherson, Kansas. She married Rick BELSHE on 1 June 1979, but they later divorced with no issue. She met Danny Daryl Dickinson about 1984 and they have lived together since. He was born on 14 November 1956 in Sidney, Nebraska, the youngest of ten boys of Billy William DICKINSON and Clara Belle SANDERS of Lodgepole, Nebraska. Kristi was born with a dislocated hip and was in a full body cast from the waist down for a year. She then wore a brace on her right leg for an additional three years.

Kristi Lynn Ketterman and Danny Daryl Dickinson 1998

She enjoyed motorcycles and at 15 was thrown off one, breaking out her three front teeth and cutting her face. She had teased her mother about this happening some day, and when it did, Connie just said "Sure" and went on about her business. Then she was thrown from a boat in 1975, along with the family dog, Apollo. When her surrogate father, Jack Moyer, cut power to the boat, it reared up and came down hitting her on the head. Jack went on to pick up the dog and Kristi had to swim over to get back in the boat. She was knocked out and woke up face down in the rocks with a gash in her head. As a result, Kristi reports she has a nice patch of white hair at that point. But the dog was fine.

Kristi graduated 1977 Colby (Kansas) Community Jr. College with an AA degree in accounting. She attended Emporia State University for a year and a half studying accounting. She was an excellent cook, and became head chef at the McPherson Country Club and then the Elks Lodge until 1983. She then met Dan and spent the next eight years working in oil fields on a seismology crew, traveling extensively in the United States. She then studied and graduated as a medical assistant in 1992 at Wichita with a 4.0 grade point average. She never pursued a job in that field but moved to Rock Springs, Wyoming, in 1993 and still resides there with Dan. They enjoy rebuilding and riding old Harley Davidson motorcycles and attending Harley rallies. Upon graduation from Lodgepole High School, Dan served four years in the Army as artillery surveyor, being discharged a sergeant. Previously married, Dan has two sons, Joseph Daniel, born Dec 25, 1976, and Eric Clayton, born April 28, 1979. An avid Nebraska Cornhusker football fan.

58. f ii. Diana Kay KETTERMAN was born 11 September 1958 also in McPherson, Kansas. She married Bradford Keith HERMAN on 13 August 1993 in Miami, Ottawa County, Oklahoma. He was born 21 September 1957 in Hutchinson, Reno County, Kansas, the son of Robert William HERMAN and Betty Jane BROWN.

Brad is a graduate of McPherson High School in 1975 and Kansas State University with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. He is employed as a Group Leader at Cessna Aircraft in Wichita, Kansas. He and Diana own their own airplane and enjoy traveling the country by air.

Diana and Bradford Herman wedding August 1993

Diana is also a graduate of the McPherson High School, a year behind Brad in 1976. She then attended Colby Community College in Colby, Kansas, from 1976 to 1978, graduating with an AA degree. She then attended Wichita State University, Wichita, Kansas, from 1978 to 1980, graduating magna cum laud with a BS in Chemistry. She attended the University of Kansas Medical School and graduated in 1985 with an M.D. degree and residency at St. Francis Regional Medial Center in Wichita, 1985 to 1988, in Family Practice. Perhaps tis was truly her destiny, since her mother says that as a child, she was always cutting open her dolls and operating on them.

She was in private practice in Wichita for four years before joining the residency program at St. Francis as Associate Director in 1992, and in 1997 Diana is employed in that field. She is also Assistant Clinical Professor of Family Practice with the University of Kansas Medical School.

"I made it to all these schools by chance: Colby because I could have either out-of-state tuition or a car, and I picked the farthest place away from home in the state AND the car. Wichita State offered me the most money and I was fortunate enough to interview well at KU. I had my medical school career interrupted in 1981 by the diagnosis of Lupus, after which I took a year off to regroup. It is a chronic but relapsing illness, which I have so far managed to not let it run my life. But that's not saying it hasn't changed my life! Better living through chemistry and drugs!

"Brad (Herman) is also a graduate of McPherson High School and was in Kristi's (Ketterman) class of 1975. Pretty ironic that I married a guy that I used to hang around with since Jr. High School. If you would have told me at age 15 or even 25 that I'd marry him, I'd have laughed you out of town.

"Due to both male and female factors, there is no issue from this marriage, but, we are proud parents of two well-behaved cats, Ku-Shu and A.J., and recently adopted twin mutts, the comedy team of Cheech and Chong." (Autobiographical description, January, 1997.)

NOTES for Harold:

Harold was educated in Dodge City and entered the U. S. Marines in 1940 before completion of his high school. He was in the tank corps and drove a tank through many invasions in the South Pacific. During the invasion of Guam he had to maneuver up a narrow hill path. The unit was receiving heavy fire and he refused to continue and was demoted to private. He later continued and coming under heavy enemy fire again, and was forced to abandon the tank after it was disabled. He jumped from the machine in an effort to reach safety and as I recall his telling the story, was shot in the back. It was not too serious, but it sent him home with a purple heart and a discharge. He was later restored to corporal and received a pension for his injury. He then returned to Dodge City and worked in a dairy making ice cream. He was hired eventually in 1948 as a switchman on the Rock Island Railroad (now the Cotton Belt) and worked at that job until becoming ill. In 1959 he studied television repair and maintenance work, and successfully passed his GED to receive the high school diploma equivalency.

Harold Randolph Ketterman Wedding February 27, 1946

After the war and when he became employed on the railroad, he bought a Hudson Terraplane – certainly a sporty looking car. He loved beer and brewed quite a bit on his own. He and Connie came from McPherson to Dodge City one weekend and he had a fresh batch stored in the trunk of his Hudson. Since Grace Henry would not permit alcohol in her home (if she knew it) he went to the car to get a bottle. He opened the trunk and there was quite an explosion as several bottles erupted, spraying his face and chest with fine shards of glass. I guess he picked glass out of his face for a long time. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Doris Constance (Henry) Ketterman - Balloon Ride, Albuquerque 1995

"Dad loved to fish and hunt. He used to take D.D. (Diana) and I fishing with him. We even had cane poles. He took us till he was no longer able to go. We used to spend the night and us kids would sleep in the car." (Recollections of Kristi Ketterman).

NOTES for Doris (Connie):

Connie completed high school in Dodge City. During those high school years the second world war was on and with an air base at Dodge City, a lot of GIs were looking for fun. There were no "nice" dance halls or USOs, just some beer halls that had no liquor age laws, since liquor was outlawed. To keep Connie from going to those places, mother, Grace, would make her take her little brother, Howard, along when she went out on these "dates." Well, little brother learned many dances at those places, especially when the French pilots were in training there. In her later years, after family raising and all,

Connie started to travel and does so extensively: England, France, Alaska to name a few. She and sister Georgia and brother Edwin had eye problems. The eyes moved and jumped all the time. A doctor diagnosed it as nystagmus, caused from being albino, but they were not true albinos. It caused a legal blindness situation, but they could see to do things all right. Never heard of this before in the family history. (Reflections of Howard W. Henry).

Some time after Harold's death, "Connie" met Jack Landon Moyer. Jack was born 7 September 1930 in Wichita, Kansas, the son of Margorie (DUNCAN) Moyer. He has a twin brother, Dean Landon Moyer. Jack graduated in 1948 and worked a short while until enlisting in the Air Force on September 12, 1950. He was a radio operator stationed in Hawaii and the South Pacific. Being discharged in 1954, he attended Cowley County Jr. College, Arkansas City, Kansas, graduating with his AA degree. He attended Oklahoma State University studying mechanical engineering, but ran out of money before graduation. He has been working in the heavy equipment industry and driving trucks ever since. He keeps attempting retirement, but can't quit being active and working. He is active in the American Legion and B.P.O.E. He has been a surrogate father to the girls since about 1966 and takes an active part in the family life.

34. Howard Ward[5] HENRY <See p. 33, 156> (Edwin, II[4], Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was born 5 January 1927 in Dodge City, Ford, Kansas. He is the son of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II and Grace Louisa MEEKS.

Howard married (1) LuAlice Irene DUNAHEE on 18 February 1951 in Inglewood, Los Angeles County, California, and they later divorced on May 16, 1953, in Deming, Luna County, New Mexico, with no issue.

He then married (2) Zona Gail EHRET 11 September 1955 in Santa Fe, Santa Fe County, New Mexico. Zona was born 11 December 1927 in Deep River, Poweshiek County, Iowa, the daughter of Alvin Ernest EHRET and Mabel Evelyn MAHAN.

They had 2 children:

59. f i. Sharon Kay HENRY, born 2 June 1956 in Deming, Luna County, New Mexico. Sharon was an athlete in her primary and secondary school years, running long distance in track, and upon graduation from high school in Albuquerque, went to Oregon State University, Corvallis, Oregon, obtaining a degree in forestry. She worked for the U. S. Forest Service in Alaska for a summer. While studying at Oregon, she became a volunteer fireman, living at the fire station. There she had to study first aid and became a paramedic. After graduation she continued as a paramedic, and located in Portland. She rose to the rank of administrator and contract coordinator. Because of her attempts to (though unsuccessfully) win the ambulance contract in San Diego, California, she was hired by Hartson Ambulance Company as manager of the San Diego County operations. She successfully won the contract for San Mateo County ambulance service, and was later promoted to Chief Executive Officer.[176] While in this position, she obtained her Master's Degree in Business Administration from the University of California, Irvine.

Sharon Kay Henry 1993

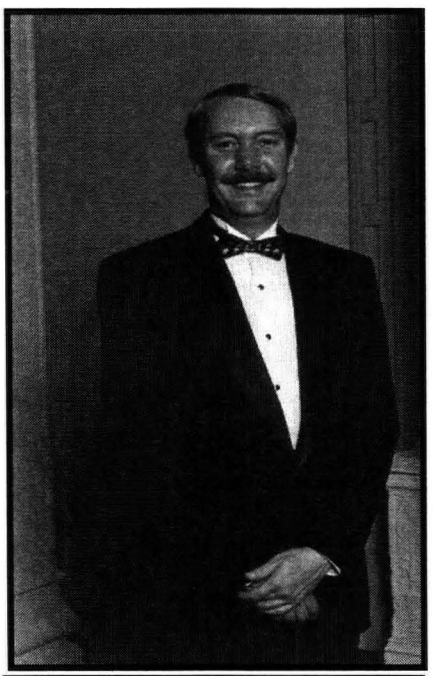
Hartson was later acquired by a Canadian group (Ludlow) and Sharon was promoted to vice-president and marketing director, with primary duties being the acquisition of ambulance companies throughout the North American continent. As such, she traveled coast-to-coast several times a month. Leaving Hartson, Sharon joined in a partnership to form a new corporation for the purpose of buying and selling ambulance services.

She loves participating in snorkling, skiing (water and snow), biking, diving, golf, woodworking, and flying, having acquired a pilot's license in 1994.

Traveling is a great interest, having made trips to Pakistan and the silk route to China, a trek to India in an attempt to get to Nepal for mountain climbing, Greece, Israel, Brazil, Columbia, Costa Rica, Peru, Beliz, the Amazon and many trips to Mexico.



Daniel Kent Henry 1995

60. m ii. Daniel Kent HENRY was born 30 July 1959 in Albuquerque, Bernalillo County, New Mexico. Dan never finished high school having opted for a General Educational Diploma and enlisted in the Navy at age of 17. He served 4+ years on the USS Coral Sea as a 2nd class fuel tender and boilerman, serving in the South Pacific and the Indian Ocean during the attempted freedom movement in 1980 (Operation Desert Storm) for the American hostages being held in Iran. After this military service he attended college for two years at Bremerton, Washington, and matriculated to Western Washington University where he completed his undergraduate studies and awarded a Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance at Western Washington University, Bellingham, Washington, on June 9, 1984. He became involved in the health care accounting field, and moved to Los Angeles in 1989, working in the finance department for the California Hospital Medical Center. In 1994 he was advanced to vice president and Chief Finance Officer.

He left that organization in 1997 and became Finance Officer of another hospital at Hawaiian Grove, California, where he served for sixteen months. He was Chief Finance Officer and co-founder of Kiddy Shack Productions, producers of video films for teaching children golf. Currently Dan is CFO for Detech of Los Angeles. Daniel received his Master's in Business Administration from Redlands University, Redlands, California, in May, 1996.

NOTES for Zona:

Zona grew up on a farm in Deep River and Montezuma, Iowa, without lights or facilities. The Depression was remembered as difficult, but living on a farm they didn't starve. Her father was a farmer, but lost it during the depression. He then went to work for One-Minute washing machine company and her mother returned to teaching in Laurel, Iowa. She was an accelerated student, graduating a year early, in 1944, at age 16 in a class of 24 at Montezuma, Iowa.

She then attended Central College and matriculated to the University of Iowa where she received her degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1949. She then went to California with a friend and lived in Palo Alto and San Mateo. For a time she commuted to San Francisco and worked for American Can Co. She was then in the personnel office at San Mateo Community Hospital.

She returned to Iowa in 1951 and worked as a reporter photographer on the Oskaloosa Daily Herald. She spent the summer of 1953 in Europe with friends and came to Albuquerque in October of that year to visit a close friend and her sister and never left town.

Living in Albuquerque, she was working for the Albuquerque Multiple Listing Service when she met Howard in 1954. She became a real estate saleslady with Anderman & Glasebrook, the position she held when she eloped with Howard to Santa Fe one Sunday night. Her bridesmaid was Julia Propps, her former boss at the Listing Service. She moved that night to Deming, New Mexico, where Howard worked.

Zona Gail (Ehret) Henry - 1944

They returned to Albuquerque in 1957 where she was executive secretary for the Albuquerque Multiple Listing Bureau, Board of Realtors. After the birth of her children, Zona became a housemother and stayed home to raise the family and worked some in the family reporting company. She did a lot of volunteer for the Democratic party for years and at sixty became a mediator with the Albuquerque Metropolitan Court System. She also took up an exercise regimen, playing softball, loved flying, taking a few lessons, and flew in an open cockpit airplane. In November of 1998 she went sky diving at the age of 71. Zona always liked to travel and she made many trips with Howard to England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Mexico, Guatamala, Canada, Hawaii, and Alaska.

NOTES for Howard:

Howard contracted spinal meningitis at about 2 years of age and was treated at home. No after effects.

"I was born at 1005 Avenue C, Dodge City, Kansas, and lived there until I was 9 when we moved to 910 Avenue B - a whole half-block away. We lived there for a few years (1940-1941) when we moved to 1505 Fifth Avenue. We lived there about two years and moved to 902 Avenue A. I graduated from high school while living at that address in May, 1944. I worked for the AT&SF Railroad from early 1943 to entering the U. S. Navy, enlisting on September 11, 1944, and going on active duty on October 14, 1944. That first long train ride and really the first time away from home was a wonder-filled trip. Boot camp was at Great Lakes, Illinois, until December 23, 1944.

"My first airplane ride was from Chicago to Wichita for Christmas leave. Signalman school at Great Lakes January-May, 1945; Camp Shoemaker, California, en route, and amphibious training at Oceanside, California, the summer of 1945, practicing for the landing and invasion of Japan that fall. VJ day occurred just before we were to leave for the orient, but we went anyway aboard a converted cargo ship. It was slow, taking 16 days, and stopped at Guam for about 20 days. Brother, Delburn, was in the Mariannas but we were not able to make contact.

Went on to Tsingtao, China, arriving November 5, on to Tyco, China, arriving November 16 and on to Shanghai, arriving November, 19, 1945, where we were living in a former Japanese warehouse and office building.[133]

"There I met Richard Sze Ping Yu and we became close friends. I often visited in his home and shared all the festival days and Christmas and New Years. Richard was a movie fan and we saw many movies. The custom was to stand and sing the national anthem before each movie. We taught each other our respective national anthems. I used that often, along with my limited Chinese, to help with crowd control while serving with the shore patrol on riot and crowd control patrol. When it came time to leave, I almost took my discharge there in order to work with the Relief Program that had been initiated, but receiving a photo of my girl friend at home made the final decision.

"I lost contact with Richard when the Communists closed the border in May of 1949. I actually thought he had been executed for having known me. In 1979 he managed to contact me and I was able to bring him to the United States for a three-month visit. It fulfilled his dream to see America. My son and I were able to make a trip there in 1983 and visited his home and met his children.

"Another close friend there was David Arzooni, a Jewish boy my age whose father was the rabbi of the temple congregation at Shanghai. We shared many hours sightseeing and visiting. He managed to escape China in 1948 and worked his way to Canada, where he now resides. We have visited several times, and correspond often.

"March 26, 1946, was the commencement of the return voyage and it was extremely interesting in that we were in a typhoon for over a week. We were not able to even make coffee for two days, with the ship pitching and yawing so much the coffee would pour out of the pots. It was difficult to stay in the bunks when there was such a pitch and roll. One man did fall from his bunk down and into another across the aisle. I worked in the galley and we were finally able to fry hamburgers one day by holding a tray on each side of the grille to catch the burgers and put them back on the grille to cook more on their way to the other side. The toilet on troop ships was a long trough with seats anchored at intervals. I learned quickly to always pick a seat in the middle, never on the end! I never experienced anything as frightening before or since, but is was truly awesome! Unbelievable, the power of nature.

"Upon arriving back in the U.S. we took a troop train to Norman, Oklahoma. It was a hot trip across southern California, Arizona, and New Mexico in non-air conditioned troop cars. We finally stopped one evening somewhere in Texas and we all rushed across the street where we saw a soda shop. After a couple of sodas, malted milks, ice cream cones, etc., it turned out to be a long night upon resuming the ride! I was sick all the time in Norman and was still sick when I was put out the gate. In the diner car on the way home, I had a wonderful dinner, the first in many, many months, but was too sick to eat it! I was honorably discharged on April 16, 1946.

"I went in the service with the picture in my mind of the young man going off to war with all his friends saying goodbyes amid great fanfare, and coming home a hero to the roaring crowds. Instead, I went off on the afternoon mail train with my mother at the station to say goodbye. I returned home and no one knew I was coming. I even had to carry my sea bag up the hill and found no one home when I got there and had to wait on the front porch. So much for war time propaganda.

"I attended Cain-Powell Business College, Dodge City, from 1946 to May, 1948, studying court reporting. At the same time I attended Dodge City Jr. College, September, 1946, to May, 1948, graduating with an AA degree.

"I went to San Leandro, California, and lived with brothers, Delburn, Roger and spouse Katherine, while attending Professional Secretarial School, San Francisco, California, graduating in court reporting in May, 1949. Returned to Dodge City and worked again on the ATSF Ry, having been on educational leave. In February, 1950, I resigned and went to Los Angeles, California, to commence my career.

"I lived with George and Bertha Henry, uncle and aunt, in Los Angeles, and started as a court reporter. I attended the Christian Church in Inglewood, California, where I met LuAlice Irene Dunahee. Having joined the U. S. Naval Reserves in August of 1946, and the Korean War starting, I was recalled July 27, 1950, to active duty and my enlistment extended one year under the war emergency authority. During that time, February of 1951, I married LuAlice at the First Christian Church in Inglewood. We resided in a small downtown studio apartment in San Diego until discharged in August, 1951.

"Now with a wife and not wanting to go through the starvation period again of starting in a new profession, we went to Albuquerque in an attempt to reestablish the career of court reporter, having a teacher from the Cain-Powell Business College then working as a reporter in Albuquerque. Jobs were not plentiful, and we went to Deming, New Mexico, where I obtained a position as reporter for the 6th Judicial District Court. We finally bought a home there in the fall of 1952 but divorced in May, 1953. Sold home.

"I met Zona Gail Ehret in January or so of 1954 in Albuquerque and dated, long distance, for several months. I did drive to Albuquerque on weekends for several months before we broke up about January of 1955 and had no contact until at a party one Sunday evening at a mutual friend's home in Albuquerque and Julia Propps suggested we should get married, so we went to Santa Fe and did, September 11, 1955, at 11:00 p.m. Best man, Chuey Jimenez, and I were in Albuquerque on an American Legion activity. Arriving back in Deming at 8:00 a.m., Monday morning, I had a jury trial starting at nine. A long day.

"We lived at Deming where Sharon Kay was born at the Deming Ladies Hospital. Moved in September, 1957, to Albuquerque where I entered UNM for study towards a bachelor's degree in accounting and Zona was executive secretary for the Multiple Listing Service for the Board of Realtors. Daniel Kent was born at St. Joseph's Hospital in Albuquerque. I graduated in January, 1960, and worked a short time in the accounting field, but soon returned to court reporting as a full time occupation, having a partner at first and in 1963 going alone. I maintained a sole proprietorship and incorporated in March, 1963.

"In September, 1965, I became reporter for the U. S. District Court for the District of New Mexico, and occupied that position, along with maintaining the free-lance business and corporation, until the fall of 1982 when I resigned from court. I did love court reporting, never hated my job, and always looked forward to going to work. I liked the variety of cases, the pressure of deadlines, and I cannot remember ever being late in the delivery of a transcript. I worked 42 years at the profession, and figured I had taken testimony from 50,000 witnesses and had typed approximately 3.5 million pages of transcript. I started out with the old standard manual typewriter, most years being spent with the electric typewriter and carbon paper before the advent of copy machines and computers. The last few years I did report with a computer.

"I served in all offices of the state association, did some guest lecturing at the national United States Court Reporters conventions, the University of New Mexico, and in several of the secondary schools.

I was a member the full 40 years of the state and national associations and the federal reporters association during the years in federal practice.

"I continued the free-lance practice until May of 1990 when I sold the corporation. The new owners did not work out, having marital difficulties, and they walked out New Year's Eve, December 31, 1990, leaving us $225,000 poorer. We worked the next year completing reporter contracts and cleaning up the accounts and I retired January 5, 1992, after we built our dream home on a bluff overlooking the Rio Grande, the Sandia mountains, and the city of Albuquerque. We always thanked cousin William Bullard for the great financial help through an inheritance of $100,000 when he passed away.

"Current activities in retirement are indexing old newspapers for the Genealogy Club of Albuquerque, and have authored 41 books and several short stories based on historical facts learned from that research as of the present time.

"I love a good party, meeting and visiting with friends, classical music, musical and dramatic theater, traveling, and working. I enjoy reminiscing of trips and having seen and attended operas or symphonic performances in Guadalajara, Mexico City, Rome, Amsterdam, London, Shanghai, Madrid, Barcelona, Palma Majorca, New York, Philadelphia, and Boston. Other travel has been on the Erie Canal to Canada, Honduras, Guatamala, Belize, Cuba, Kenya, Tanzania, France, Germany, Denmark, China, Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore, all over Brazil and the Amazon, Argentina, and Paraguay." (Autobiography Written September, 1998, updated 2002).

35. Harvey Pierce[5] HENRY <See p. 38> (Harry[4], Edwin, I[3], Richard[2], John[1]) was the son of Harry Raymond HENRY and Isabella PIERCE. He married Phyllis HEATHCOAT on 29 July 1938.

They had 2 children:

61. f i. Patricia H. HENRY. She married John SAGE.
62. f ii. Phyllis Irene HENRY.

NOTES for Phyllis and Harvey:

Compiler obtained marriage date somewhere, but not the place. I believe Harvey and Phyllis must have been living in Hollywood at the time of their marriage, since his father, H. Raymond, was there and had been working in the movie industry and had a studio on Hollywood Boulevard. Harvey was an interior decorator and movie set designer. He decorated several movie star's homes. I was in Hollywood in 1945 during the second world war and met Harvey and his family. It was a beautiful home and I remember he told me at that time of just having finished decorating the home of Veronica Lake. He also painted many movie sets with his father, H. Raymond Henry.

A memorial to Harvey by his daughter is dated in 1971 and would seem to indicate that year for death. But I sense from the reading that perhaps the body has been moved to a ranch that daughter, Patricia Sage, lived on somewhere near Tehachapi, California.[70(15)] (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

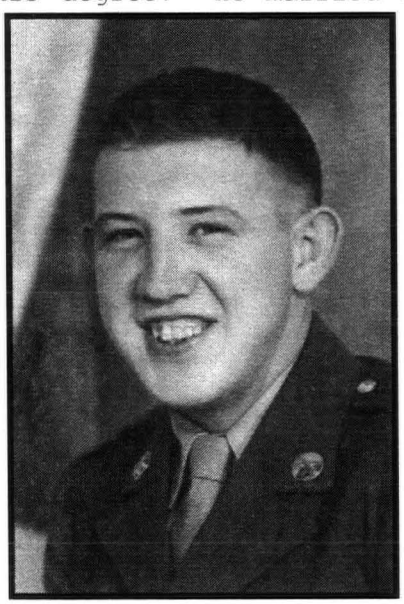
Joanna's mother was a cousin of Maida Dehart, 2nd wife of Albert Dehart <See p. 98>, brother of Cora Dehart Hanna. She attended Dodge City Junior College and was active in drama and music. We performed in several plays together and we were members of the Delta Psi Omega drama club. While attending college she and I dated for a while, and danced a lot. When my nephew, Kenneth, came home from service, I lost her. She was an excellent dancer, and recently has been singing on the radio and painting.

NOTES for Kenneth, Jr.:

Kenneth attended Dodge City Junior College and Kansas State University but lacked a few hours of completing the necessary work for his degree. He married and worked for 23 years for the ATSF Railroad and then for Borden's in Texas City, Texas, and in Columbus, Ohio. He was the chief rail car coordinator for the Borden Chemical Company at the time of his death.



Kenneth Lee Hutchinson, Jr. 1945

He served in the second world war in the U. S. Army, entering in 1945; was overseas in Europe in Italy and the occupation forces in Trieste. Being recalled during the Korean Conflict, he served in Korea where his feet were frostbitten. True to his nature, he never complained about this unpleasant experience.

I, the uncle, was only three months older than Hutchie and we spent our first 17 years together, closer than brothers. We were almost inseparable. As youngsters we worked together at the local theater passing out handbills, concessions, and ushering. The entire city was our playground and we did everything. Our parents would usually know about it before we got home. We would go to the river and play in the sand. The railroad freight line crossed the river west of the park and we would go there and play on the trestle, hoping that a train would come by so we could see what we would be able to do. Hanging from the side of the trestle seemed most feasible. I can't remember that we ever had to prove our theory.

We usually had jobs as children. I was doing yard work when he started driving a delivery truck for a local grocery store. He was about 14 and licenses were no problem. We went to the drug store and bought driver's licenses for 25 cents, as I recall. Didn't have to know how to drive. Then together we started at the ATSF Railroad on the extra board working all jobs in the station force, mainly freight docks, stockyards, janitor, and several office positions. This was during the war and help was scarce, so even though we were still in high school we often had to work 24 or 30 hours during a weekend. Once we were called out of church and went to the stockyards and didn't get home for amost 35 hours.

Once a wire was received addressed to the Freight Agent, informing him that a cow that had been loaded the day before had died in transit and was seeking information for the claims office. Over the name of the agent, we sent a return wire expressing his sincere sympathy and condolences! The response to the agent was almost unprintable. Agent Parks KNEW who did it, but couldn't prove it.
Kenneth was honest and true and his word was his bond. He did some acting in the community theater and was President of the Theater Guild in Hutchinson, Kansas, and of the Texas City-Galveston Traffic Club. He did other volunteer work and coached little league and sophomore league baseball for many years. He served as Cubmaster and coached baseball for Cub Scouts. He held offices in the Presbyterian Church in Kansas and Texas. He was a smoker all his life and died of cancer. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

"They moved to Pasadena, Texas, in January, 1952. It was there she devoted her life to the career of managing the family. Her two loves are her family and socializing (gadding about).

"She is an active volunteer and leader in her church, St. Thomas Altar Society, American Cancer Society, Hospice, to name a few. She throws a mean party, is a helluva organizer, and an outstanding, inventive cook – nothing is measured, nothing tastes the same, nothing is wasted, and nothing ever seems to be cooked the first time. Her cooking is part German, part Yankee, part southern, and part Tex-Mex. After the children were gone, at age 54 until present, she went to work in the Texas City School system to stay busy and to keep her husband from retiring." (Recollections of Delburn R. Being gone a lot, he told her "If anyone tries to get in this house, shoot first and ask questions later." He was sent off on a mission one rainy night and, of course, they were unable to fly. He got home in the middle of the night, and, remembering what he told her, stood in the street shouting, "Darlene, it's me, don't shoot!" (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

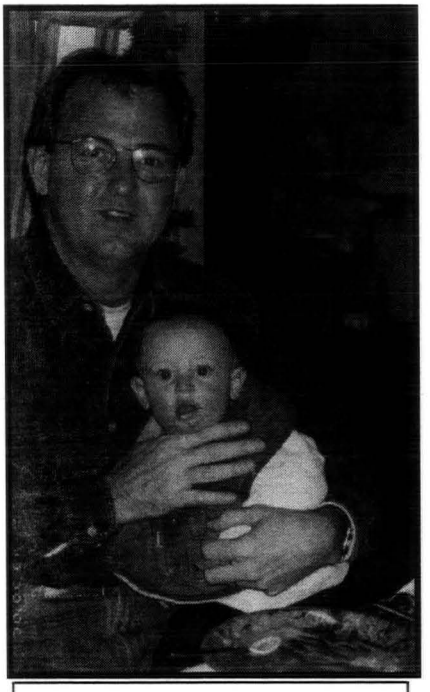
Wade graduated from high school in Texas City, Texas, and attended Texas Tech University and then he earned his degree in petroleum land management at University of Texas, Austin, Texas. He worked three years for an oil well servicing company in Powell, Wyoming, and later Casper, Wyoming. He left there and worked a short period in Houston selling materials for oil well fracturing.



Wade Paul Hutchinson with Kathryn -- 1996

He and another gentleman started a Texas corporation called Tru-Tag, Inc., in about 1985. The major part of their business was in Bakersfield, California, and Oklahoma. At the time they started the company the oil drilling business collapsed - billionaires became millionaires and millionaires went broke - and growth in Texas was slow. The company struggled, survived, and finally started to grow. At the time it started to grow, his brother Kelly was working in Bakersfield for an oil well servicing company. He joined Tru-Tag as a principal owner. The business grew into Texas, Colorado, and Alaska only to collapse again during a second oil recession. There was disagreement among the owners in 1992 at which time Wade and Kelly left and started their own well tagging business, centered mostly in east Texas.

After about one year they sold the business to a predominant well tagging company and became employees of the company as part of the negotiations. Both Wade and Kelly continue employment with Protechnics, the company that bought them out. (Recollections of Delburn R. Hutchinson, 1996).[117]

Wade and Susan divorced in Houston in 1993, but by 1996 they had remarried so a diligent researcher may find two marriage records in the Texas state records.

NOTES for Richard:

A patriot, he helped establish Bowman's Fort and doubtless helped to defend it because he was there during the siege, though we find no reference to any active part he may have taken. He received 200 acres of land on Dix River in 1780, and he went from Frederick County, Virginia, to Kentucky in 1779. He was a witness to the will of John Bowman in 1784. Since he received 200 acres of land, was he in the Revolutionary War? Compiler checked the National Archives but was unsuccessful in finding that name in the Revolutionary War files.

Compiler has that Bible.[168] Raymond was born 10 August 1850 at Mansfield, Ohio, and died 23 June 1936 at Alliance. He was a conductor on the Pennsylvania Railroad and also a businessman.[168]

They had 7 children:[63]

208.	f	i.	Elma ROGERS. She married J. N. ANKENY.
209.	f	ii.	Maggie ROGERS. She married G. S. HUGHES.

213.	f	vi.	Maud ROGERS. She married Glen F. MOORE.
214.	m	vii.	Will ROGERS.

NOTES for Wilbur:

Also could be William Rogers.[63] A copy of a letter from his sister refers to him as "Will" so it could be either name.[64]

203. Nancy Jane "Jennie"[8] ROGERS <See p. 100> (Stephen[7], Stephen[6], Enoch[5], Jonathan[4], Jonathan[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]) was born 5 May 1845 in Johnson, LaMoille County, Vermont. She was the daughter of Stephen G. ROGERS and Irene STONE. Nancy died 6 June 1913 in Topeka, Shawnee County, Kansas, at the age of 68, and was buried 11 June 1913 in St. Louis, Missouri, in the cemetery plot of her daughter and son-in-law, T. S. Henderson.

She married (1) Capt. Amos C. HOLDEN 13 February 1861[104] in Aledo, Mercer County, Illinois.

NOTES for Amos:

He was a Captain in the Civil War. He had fathered twin boys, but they died shortly after birth. He was drowned while on duty in the war in about 1864 in a flash flood while fording a river on horseback. First reports showed his name to be John, but marriage certificate shows correct name.

Nancy then married (2) Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, <See number 5, pg. 19> on 25 November 1866 in Aledo, Mercer County, Illinois. He was born 23 July 1827 in Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky, the son of Richard J. HENRY and Lucy PICKETT.

NOTES for Nancy:

In a document from H. Raymond Henry written to Edwin Henry 3rd, describing his mother, Nancy, he wrote: "To Edwin R. Henry. Much has been said about your grandmother by those who knew little of her latter years. I was the only one to be with her and little was ever said about her background. Longfellow, Tennison, Byron etc was her beloved reading matter, while medicine was her study.

"Mother became the progressive, head of our little family when we left Dodge to locate in Topeka (I was then about four years old) where mother became known as the doctor for women and against her will and advice her patrons insisted on running her for the office of County

Physician. Without one word from her in her behalf, she lost by only a few votes.

"After that episode the male M.D.s would not speak to her. This was largely the cause for the illness of one of the sweetest wonderfull (sic) souls that ever lived. Mother was a thorn in the M.D.s ego, and a light to the womens world. Please excuse this writing or composition. Your Uncle, H. Raymond Henry, 86 yr. young."[179]

Listing the descendants of Thomas MARTIN

216. Thomas[1] MARTIN[128 p.6] married Maria STEELE.

They had 8 children:

217.	m	i.	William MARTIN.
+ 218.	f	ii.	Lyla MARTIN. <See p. 106>.
+ 219.	f	iii.	Virg MARTIN. <See p. 106>
220.	f	iv.	Druse MARTIN.
+ 221.	f	v.	Melinda MARTIN, born 1840, died in 1921. <See p. 106>.
+ 222.	m	vi.	Edward MARTIN. <See p. 109>.
223.	m	vii.	Tom MARTIN.
224.	m	viii.	Jesse MARTIN.

It was found in some notes of Edwin R. Henry 3rd that there were 13 children in the family. Besides the eight listed above, there were other possible names of John, Dave, Nancy, Mary, Samuel, and one that died at age of eight years. Where this information came from, compiler doesn't know, but when Edwin was young he knew his grandparents and he may have derived some information from this source. I list them here until they can be verified from some other source.

the first wife of Thomas B. Dehart.

	244.	m	xiii.	Thomas D. DEHART.
+	245.	f	xiv.	Minnie A. DEHART. <See p. 113, 138>

Thomas also married (1) Polly Alisa NEW. She was born about 1825 in Pike County, Illinois. She was the daughter of Augustus McD. NEW[128(5)] and she died 16 July 1871 in Buckhorn Township, Brown County, Illinois.

NOTES for Thomas:

His first wife, Polly Alisa New, was born in Kentucky and she went to Brown County, Illinois, in He was born in Hart County, Kentucky. His father, William, had emigrated to Illinois in 1832 when Thomas was seven years old, and settled March 6, 1833, at La Grange. William was the first man to permanently settle in Buckhorn, Brown County, in 1837 on the northwest quarter of section 33. He had been in the area previously and had built at that time a cabin of rough, unhewed logs measuring about 16 feet square, with a roof of clapboards and a floor of mother earth.

When he returned that day in 1837 with his family, they cleaned up the area as best they could, got in a supply of firewood, and did the necessary hunting to prepare meals. That night it snowed six inches and grew quite cold. They built a large fire in one end of the cabin against the green logs, the smoke curling up through the openings between the logs and clapboards, their being neither fireplace nor chimney. But with the cold wind and snow outdoors, the crude cabin was a palace.

Then come the spring when the earth turned warm and imagine their surprise and terror when the cabin filled with snakes! He had built this crude shelter on top of a very large snake den and over 40 copperheads and rattle snakes were killed that spring. At 12 years of age, Thomas was able to handle an ax or hoe and kill his share of these pesky reptiles.

Their home was destitute of many conveniences of life. The family had plenty to wear to protect from the weather, and had an abundance of wholesome food. They sat down to a rude table to eat from tin or pewter dishes, and filled with venison, bear, wild duck or turkeys that Thomas and his father had been able to supply by their skill in trapping or shooting with a musket. The bread they ate was baked by Polly from the corn or wheat of their own fields. They walked across their green fields and through the forest that surrounded them, not with the gait of a beggar, but with the step of self-respected freemen.

They brought with them a keen axe, which was indispensable, and the rifle; the first his weapon against the forests that skirted the water-courses, and near which he made his house, the second that of defense against the attacks of his foe, the cunning children of nature. His first labor was to fell the trees necessary to build his log cabin, usually 14 to 16 feet square — never more than 20, and built without glass, nails, hinges or locks.[44]

This compiler has not researched the family further, but there were seven siblings of Thomas, four of whom were still living in 1882: Julius W. living in Nebraska; Malinda Jane, the wife of Lewis Flinn in Adams County, Illinois; Mary, wife of Daniel Comer in Adams County; and (another) Thomas, who resides in Brown County.[44]

After the death of Polly he married the widow Malinda (Martin) Meeks. He was a farmer and stock raiser.[44] In 1882 he was still living in Brown County.

Melinda's first husband was (1) Charles MEEKS.

They had 3 children:

+ 246. m xv. William Ward MEEKS, born 1860, died 7 July 1943. <See p. 114>.

+ 247. f xvi. Louisa MEEKS, born 15 April 1858, died 6 November 1953. <See p. 115, 129>.

248. m xvii. Osmer MEEKS, born about 1862, died August, 1886, in Ulysses, Grant County, Kansas, and was buried in Zionville Cemetery.[111] He was never married. The date of his death is not known.

A paragraph in a journal of one of the early settlers in Ulysses, Kansas, contained the following entry:

"In early August, 1866, we had quite a rainy day about three inches of rainfall coming down in twenty-four hours. The next day the water came down the valley in a raging, rushing torrent and filled the whole valley, in some places more than a quarter of a mile wide. A number of the younger men thought this was a favorable time to go swimming in the deep, muddy water, and among them was Osmer Meeks, who got tangled in some debris and was drowned. The swift current carried his body down stream and it was not recovered for twenty-four hours. He was a young man of about my age and had been one of my very best friends during my six months residence in that neighborhood and I felt his loss keenly. He was buried in Zionville Cemetery. A large crowd attended the funeral."[111]

His brother, William Ward Meeks, and sister, Louisa Meeks, were born in Maysville, Mason County, Kentucky, and it is probable that he was also born there.

NOTES for Melinda:

She married (1) Charles Meeks and (2) Thomas D. Dehart. Born in Nicholas County, Kentucky, she went to Brown County, Illinois, in 1864. She must have been married to Charles Meeks in Kentucky and went with him to Brown County. He died between 1864 and 1872 because she married Dehart sometime after July, 1871, when his first wife died.

Tin-types in possession of Georgia (Henry) Hutchinson.

She also has a photo that has three women and on the reverse says "Malinda Meeks Dehart (left) Louisa Bullard, Daughter of Malinda; Right Betsy An Houston, sister of Malinda." Dates taken from a tombstone photo in possession of Beverly (Hutchinson) Unruh.

Ancestral Chart in papers of Edwin R. Henry 3rd indicates her father was a Thomas Martin, with possibly a brother Sam, and married Maria Steele, who may have had a brother Jim. It shows the family composition as children John, William, Lyla, Virg, Druse, Melinda, Edward, Thomas, Jesse, Dave, Nancy, Samuel, and one that died at age of eight years.

Some of those family compositions are as follows:

1) Lyla Martin m. Henry Weaver and had issue: Tom, Emma, Mary, Josephine.
2) Virg Martin m. Walt Weaver and had issue, Taylor, Sadie, John.
3) Druse Martin married unknown and had issue, Druse.
4) Melinda we know, above.
5) Edward Martin m. Lucy Dennis and had issue: Fred, Stella, Robert, Rose.
6) Tom Martin married and apparently had no issue.

Cora died 7 February 1957[70(10)] in Dodge City, Ford, Kansas, at the age of 81, and was buried 9 February 1957 in Roselawn Cemetery., Pueblo, Colorado. She married Delmar Burchard HANNA. He was born 18 May 1877. He is the son of William HANNA and Caroline Rebecca MUMMY.[82(224)]

They had 3 children:

NOTES for Cora and Delmar:

Compiler personally knew Aunt Cora. She was short (5'), rather heavy, and had beautiful white hair. Her voice would waver when she talked, and she was perfect lady. Compiler has very fond memories of her. She did have a fourth child, born in Cimarron, Kansas, and died at two years of age, named Carl. He is buried in the Cemetery at Cimarron.

Recent discoveries had shown that there is a Delphus B. Hanna listed in the Census records for 1880. This will raise questions for future research.

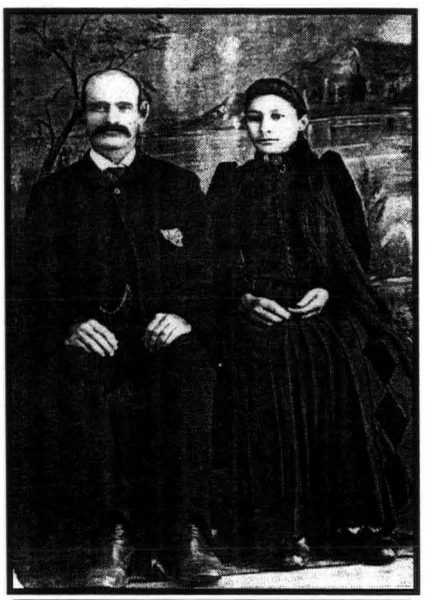
William Ward Meeks
Dodge City, Kansas
c. 1916

The 1887 Grant County census shows William, age 27 born in Kentucky and had lived there 1 year. Mary, age 28, born Illinois; Grace, age 3, born in Illinois; Stella, age 1 born in Illinois.[111] William Ward was living in Hutchinson, Kansas, in the late 1920s and early 1930's and working for Wilke Plumbing Company. A hand written letter and envelope dated December 31, 1926, indicates the address of 310 West Sherman, Hutchinson[75(2)]

Georgia (Henry) Hutchinson reports that he was married a second time after Mary Jane Myers died, and that the lady's name was Sallie, whom the kids called "Old Sal", and that she was a spiritualist.[128(7)]

Georgia also reports that she used to go see Grandpa William in Hutchinson right after she was married, but before having any children. He then moved to Inglewood, California, and lived his remaining days in the home of his daughter, Cora India. He was buried at Inglewood Memorial Cemetery.



John Henry Bullard
Louisa Meeks
c. 1885

247. Louisa[3] MEEKS <See p. 108, 129> (Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 15 April 1858 in Maysville, Mason County, Kentucky the daughter of Charles MEEKS and Melinda MARTIN. Louisa died 6 November 1953 in Inglewood, Los Angeles County, California, at the age of 95, and was buried 9 November 1953 in Inglewood Memorial Park, Inglewood, California. She married John Henry BULLARD on 14 February 1877.[168] <See number 326, pg. 127, 129>. He was born in 1855, the son of Constable John BULLARD and Ruth MYERS. John Henry died in 1938 at the age of 83. His mother, Ruth Myers, must have been born about 1835 and Jake about that time, judging from their picture (see p. 111) the children of George "Blackhawk" Myers <See number 317, p. 134, 136>. She would have been an aunt to Mary Jane Myers and a brother of Jake Myers.

They had 1 child:

+ 290. m i. William Henry BULLARD, born 18 December 1898, died 6 March 1989. <See p. 123>.

NOTES for John:

In a taped conversation with William Bullard, he told about his father, John Bullard, and my father, Edwin Henry, 2nd, playing "High Five" at lunch when they worked on the Missouri Pacific Railroad. They had prearranged signals and knew what cards each other held at all times, and it was easy to win a bucket of beer. He gave dates of his wife's birth and death and they need to be checked more carefully since there was some discrepancy in what information I had previously obtained. The Bullards went to Pueblo in 1907. The Meeks family was there at that time. The 1910 census records for Pueblo are not readable. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry)

The census of 1860, Buckhorn Township, Brown County, Illinois, shows John Bullard, Mrs. R. Bullard, and son John. Dates all match. I remember reading that William Henry Bullard, born 1898, said his grandmother's name was Ruth. Ruth Myers is reported in information received from Edwin Henry 3rd papers as being a sister to Nancy Jane. I believe this is the true family, and I am recording the same. They were married on Valentine's Day, February 14, 1877, and after the wedding they jumped on their horses and rode home, the roads being impassable for a buggy. But even with the horses' gait, they would draw them close together for a kiss in the saddle![168]

NOTES for Louisa:

This compiler met her the summer of 1945 in California while on Navy liberty. I was visiting with Stella and Cora India and they took me to meet the Bullards. They told me to go to the door and just say, "Hello, Aunt Louisa". I did so, and the lady was quite surprised. I had been met at the door by William (Bill) Bullard's wife, Clara, and she was about 60 years old, not the 87 that Aunt Louisa was. I always felt she was a little insulted by my remark. I don't remember too much about Aunt Louisa, having met her only that one time, except she was of rather small build. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

CHAPTER 23

GENERATION NO. 4

257. Etta Mae[4] DEHART <See p. 110> (Edgar[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]). She was the daughter[44] of Edgar B. DEHART and Lulu BROWN. She married Jake W. MEEKS.

They had 1 child:

291. f i. Dorothy MEEKS.

259. Goldie May[4] HANNA <See p. 110> (Cora[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 11 May 1900 in Cimarron, Grey County, Kansas, the daughter of Delmar Burchard HANNA and Cora Ellen DEHART. Goldie died 12 September 1983[70(2, 4)] in Hutchinson, Reno County, Kansas, at the age of 83, and was buried 14 September 1983 in Maple Grove Cemetery, Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas. She eloped with Clarence Sherman BISHOP on 1 September 1920 to Cimarron or Garden City. Clarence was born 20 February 1901, and died of congestive heart failure after 22 hospitalizations in seven years on 27 September 1950 in Dodge City, at the age of 49[70(4)] the son of Ollie Crouch.

They had 1 child:

+ 292. f i. Doris Elaine BISHOP, born 13 July 1930 <See p. 125>.

NOTES for Goldie and Clarence:

"I remember Goldie very fondly. She was a rather large and portly lady, with impeccable manners. Very proper lady. I do remember seeing her towels collected from some hotels where she stayed, though.

"She lived in the same city as the Henry family in both Pueblo and Dodge City. Since her father was a railroader they lived in a box car that was fitted for family living and parked on a siding. It would be moved and the children had to stay in bed while being moved. Clarence Bishop worked for my father in the early days on the Merchant's Delivery around 1915. He later owned a Skelly gasoline station and did very well. He was vey active in civic affairs and a friend of the farmer during the depression. Goldie was always active in church affairs, lodges, and social events. I will always remember my ride in that big Buick in 1936 to Pueblo to visit relatives. Since we had no automobile, it was a treat to ride in such comfort.

"Their daughter, Doris, and I often played together, she being only a few years younger. We had a good childhood. Her grandmother, Cora (Dehart) Hanna lived with the Bishops and she was one of my favorite aunts, and the only one that lived in the same city with me during my formative years." (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

260. Victor Irvin[4] HANNA <See p. 110> (Cora[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 8 September 1904 in Coolidge, Hamilton County, Kansas. He was the son of Delmar Burchard HANNA and Cora Ellen DEHART. Victor died in January 1977 in Pueblo, Colorado, at the age of 72. He married

Eleanor TAYLOR and she was born 10 September 1905 in Pueblo, Colorado, the daughter of DeWitt Clinton TAYLOR and Maud Mc KIBBEN. Eleanor died in September of 1993, at the age of 88.

They had 2 children:

+ 293. m i. Donald Dean HANNA, born 1 December 1926 <See p. 125>.
+ 294. m ii. Warren Lee HANNA, born 22 April 1933 <See p. 126>.

NOTES for Eleanor:

After the death of her husband, Victor, Eleanor married (2) Ted Davidson of Pueblo, Colorado. In a letter from Doris (Bishop) Sutton, of January, 1994, compiler was advised that Eleanor and husband, Ted, were on the way from Pueblo to Denver. While putting a tape in the cassette player in the auto he drifted or swerved slightly and hit a parked car on the highway (that family was changing drivers). None of them were injured, but something penetrated the windshield and struck Eleanor, killing her instantly.

286. Grace Louisa[4] MEEKS <See p. 29, 114> (William[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 26 October 1884 in Siloam Springs, Brown County, Illinois, the daughter of William Ward MEEKS and Mary Jane MYERS. Grace died 12 December 1972 in Fort Dodge, Ford County, Kansas, at the age of 88, and was buried 15 December 1972 in Maple Grove Cemetery, Dodge City, Kansas. She married Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II, <See number 14, p. 19, 29> 19 October 1903 in Lyons, Rice, Kansas. He was born 24 July 1874 in Woodson, Morgan County, Illinois, the son of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, I, and Nancy Jane "Jennie" ROGERS.

Estella Meeks and Grace Meeks - c. 1888

Estella Mae Meeks c. 1938

287. Estella Mae[4] MEEKS <See p. 114> (William[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 1886 in Illinois. She is the daughter of William Ward MEEKS and Mary Jane MYERS.

She married (1) Walter GLOVER.

They had 3 children:

295. m i. William GLOVER. He married Edith WRIGHT. Compiler never met William. He married but had no issue.

296. m ii. Max GLOVER. Max apparently died early.[128(13)]

297. f iii. Mildred Mae GLOVER. She married Letcher WHITED. Compiler only knew Mildred after she moved to Oil Center, New Mexico, after the second world war with husband. They owned a small country store. I took my parents there in 1948, driving from Kansas. It was a wide spot in the road, the store the only thing there, and it was small - so I and a friend who drove with us slept outside. The store was to service the oil fields in southeastern New Mexico. She left no issue.

Estella married (2) Thomas G. SANBORN.[168] There was no issue of this marriage. Tom was a brother of sister Cora's husband, Frank Sanborn.

NOTES for Walter:
Walter was married a second time, but the lady is unknown.[128(13)]

NOTES for Estella:
"Always known as "Stella", she married three times. Compiler stayed in her home often in Los Angeles during second war while on liberty. She and sister, Cora, both smoked, while sister Grace detested it. When Grace would visit them, they would take turns going out some place and leaving the other to watch Grace so she wouldn't catch them smoking. I met her third husband when I stayed at their home, but I fail to remember his name at this point, but she had no issue from that marriage." (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Georgia (Henry) Hutchinson has some photos that show the name Stella Meeks Glover Sanborn. Tom Sanborn was a brother of Frank Sanborn, who married Cora India Meeks, and a brother of Mrs. William Harold Meeks.[168] The Grant County Historical Society has the 1887 Grant County census, and it shows Stella as 1 year old and born in Illinois.[111] I don't have a date of death recorded here, but it had to be between 1946 when I stayed at her home and 1950 when I returned to Los Angeles to live.

289. Cora India[4] MEEKS <See p. 115> (William[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 12 March 1892 in Ulysses, Grant County, Kansas. She was the daughter of William Ward MEEKS and Mary Jane MYERS. Cora died May 1978[144] in South Gate, Los Angeles County, California, at the age of 86. She married Frank SANBORN.

They had 2 children:

+ 298. f i. Dorothy Mae SANBORN, born 25 August[77] <See p. 126>.
299. m ii. Charles SANBORN.

NOTES for Frank:

The only reference I find to his birth is March 31, but without a year.[77]

NOTES for Cora:

"Cora was born after the Meeks family had moved to Ulysses in about 1890. The family lived in a cave until a soddie could be built. I believe Cora was born then.

"She and husband Frank lived many years in South Gate, California, where she was a maid/laundry worker at the Biltmore Hotel for more than 30 years. This compiler visited them in 1945 and then in 1950-51 I would see them frequently when I lived in Los Angeles. Frank, after work and on weekends, would get a beer and sit on the back door stoop because Cora smoked so much, which he didn't like. She would sit in the front room and smoke, with her beer, and they would yell back and forth. That went on for many years that I knew them.

They visited in our home in 1972 in Albuquerque and were getting rather frail then, along with problems of old age. As she would wash out her underwear after an accident, Frank would go hang them in the little tree in the front patio of the house. We often joked about once when she was standing in the door supervising the 'hanging' and her yelling, 'Hang them a little higher, Frank.' William (Bill) Henry Bullard had taken them to Kansas in his car for a vacation trip and he was glad to get some relief from the problems in the car." (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

290. William Henry[4] BULLARD <See p. 116> (Louisa[3], Melinda[2], Thomas[1]) was born 18 December 1898 in Kimball, Stearns County, Minnesota, the son of John Henry BULLARD and Louisa MEEKS. William died 6 March 1989[124] in Inglewood, California, at the age of 90, and was buried 9 March 1989 in Inglewood Memorial Cemetery, Inglewood, California. He married Mrs. Clara Gwyndolin MARTIN 18 December 1935[124] in Los Angeles, California. She was born in 1873. Clara died February 1956 in Inglewood at the age of 83, and was buried with Bill in the same cemetery.

William had 1 stepdaughter:

300. f i. Frances MARTIN. She was the biological daughter of Mr. MARTIN and Mrs. Clara Gwyndolin MARTIN.

Clara was married first to a gentleman named MARTIN.

NOTES for Clara:

"Clara was probably born in 1873. The church burned with the records and she never knew just when her birthday was. It was established as 1873 by the Social Security. Bill Bullard said she lied it so much she didn't know how old she was." (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

NOTES for William:

Bill was an auto mechanic and one of the first to work on Oldsmobile fluid drives. He was an airplane mechanic during the second world war. He was always healthy and very mild mannered. He died of lung cancer.[124] He never had wealth, but was conservative and when he died his property had increased in value. His step-daughter, Frances, had married a technician in the movie business who did many set designs and was nominated for an Oscar in February of 1950. Upon her husband's death she was rather well off, had plenty of money and a nice home in Hollywood. When she died with no issue she left Bill some money and some oil production property. The rest she had given to friends and her gardener.

William Henry "Bill" Bullard - c. 1909

I would always visit Bill when I was in the Los Angeles area on business and we became rather good friends besides relatives. He was a very caring man and when his wife Clara became very ill in 1955 Bill retired so he could devote full time to her care. She died a few months later and he never returned to work. Instead he spent many hours visiting and caring for Mrs. Bertha Henry. When I would be in the area taking care of Bertha or just visiting her, I would stay at his home. My daughter ran on a track club and in about 1971 she had a meet in Inglewood. The club was always trying to make ends meet and we stayed in homes as much as possible to avoid the high hotel rates. I called bill and asked if I could bring the track club to stay at his home during that meet and he readily agreed. They could sleep on the floor in sleeping bags or out doors in the back yard. When we showed up with 15 girls ages 11 to 17, he nearly fainted. He was truly surprised, expecting a house full of boys and he got all those girls. He enjoyed the experience and talked a lot about it later with his neighbors.

He had some very strong habits. One was a drink at 11:00 a.m. before lunch. If you were there at that exact time you could also have one. And at 5:00 p.m. he had a second drink. Only one. If you were there, okay.

He was very hard of hearing and lived in the flight path of the Los Angeles International Airport. Planes would come over and everything was drowned out. He would take out his hearing aid and was never bothered with the noise.

Bill's home was in Inglewood and when he passed away, he had an estate of some $350,000 from the sale of that property and cash that he left to a very good friend and his cousins, Georgia Hutchinson, Connie Ketterman, and Howard Henry. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

They had 1 child:

311. m i. Jack Hershorn, JR., is an attorney in the San Francisco Bay area.

NOTES for Dorothy:

Listing the descendants of George MYERS
(before 1760 - 1808)

316. George[1] MYERS was born before 1760 and he died in 1808 in Nicholas County, Kentucky. His spouse has not been identified.

They had 1 child:

+ 317. m i. George "Black Hawk" MYERS was born 26 October 1781 in Pennsylvania,[96] and died 28 April 1882 <See p. 131>.

NOTES for George:

I found an inventory of the personal estate, filed in 1808 in Nicholas County, Kentucky, of George Myers. The value was 138.6.7 pounds, shilling and pence.[87] This George is the father of "Black Hawk" Myers since an inventory was listed by book and page reference in the application for pension papers filed by George and Polly Myers for the war of 1812. Fixing birth date only as an estimate of having him at about 21 when son, George, was born. The date of his birth is a fairly firm date.[83] I find a deed where George bought 500 acres of land on Cassidy Creek in Nicholas County for 5 Shillings, and now called Cassidy Creek Road (in 1803). The inventory above is 1808. The deed was from Humphrey Marshal to George Myers, June 6, 1803.[91]

CHAPTER 27

GENERATION NO. 2

317. George "Black Hawk"[2] MYERS <See p. 130> (George[1]) was born 16 October 1781 in Pennsylvania. He was the son of George MYERS. George died 28 April 1882 in Buckhorn, Brown County, Illinois, at the age of 100. He married Polly DOUGHERTY[83] 18 October 1814 in Nicholas County, Kentucky, she having also been born in Pennsylvania, about 1800.[83] Her date of death has not been verified, but must have occurred about 1884 when the last pension check was issued in March of that year. Compiler has been una ble to find the children of George and Polly, but one granddaughter was Mary Jane and her siblings.

They had 6 grandchildren:

+ 318.	f	i.	Mary Jane MYERS, born 9 November 1859 and died about 1893 <See p. 114, 134>.
+ 319.	m	ii.	George MYERS <See p. 134>.
320.	m	iii.	Tom MYERS.
321.	m	iv.	Jake MYERS.
+ 322.	f	v.	Ruth MYERS <See p. 134>.
323.		vi.	Betsy Ann MYERS.

NOTES for George:

Grace Louisa (Meeks) Henry, great-granddaughter of George Myers, told of when he was 100 he would jump in the air and click his heels together. She never met him, having been born in 1884. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry). Apparently true, though.

George could have been born in Pennsylvania, as well as his wife, Polly Dougherty.[96, 98]

He was a veteran of the war of 1846,[135] and lived in Brown County app called Capt. Black Hawk in the family called "Captain" since he was discharg at his own request because of age.[135]

George "Black Hawk" Myers from tin-type

"Among other early settlers we will mention the names of...George Myers, a native of Kentucky, better known as 'Black Hawk Myers' became a resident in the county in 1840. Though not an old settler he was quite a remarkable character and was known by most of the older citizens of the county. He was born October 16, 1781, and was the hero of two wars, that of 1812 and the war with Mexico. He was all his life a very active man and lived to the remarkable age of 101 years. His death occurred April 11, 1882. Up to a few days before his death he walked around and superintended the affairs of his farm."[44]

Pension records indicate the date of death as April 28, 1882.[83] Those records also show he enlisted August 15, 1812, at Bourbon County, Kentucky, for six months as a private in Capt. Thomas Morris' Company of Kentucky Militia commanded by Col. Scott in the war with Great Britain declared by the United States on June 18th, 1812. He was discharged March 14, 1813, after having been taken prisoner by the British at the massacre of Raisin River just south of Detroit and being held at Fort George in Canada. He was on confinement seven months. He reenlisted September 10, 1814, for another six months as a private in Capt. Henley Roberts' company in the regiment of Kentucky Militia commanded by Col. Andrew Porter. He was honorably discharged at Fort Malden in Canada, having enlisted at that time for twelve months in a company of rangers commanded by Capt. Oder or Ober. He served with that company until he was honorably discharged after the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

He then enlisted as a private in Capt. Metcalfe's 3d Reg't (Thomson's) Kentucky Volunteers on September 20, 1847, at Carlisle, Kentucky, for the Mexican War. He went on active duty on October 3, 1847, and went to Mexico City. It is not known at this time whether they rode or walked, but I suspect they walked. He was "Discharged City of Mexico, on account of his age at his own request, March 4, 1848. By Order of Major Gen'l Butler." He had stated his age at 41 when he enlisted, but he was really 65.[135]

He later made application in 1850 for a pension as a veteran of the War of 1812, and he stated that his discharge papers and all were lost in a fire of his home. This was his recollection in 1850 upon making application for pension. The dates seem to be verified for the first two enlistments, but there is apparently no record of the "Rangers" in the war department.

Neither he nor his wife, Polly, could read or write, apparently, since they both sign with an "x"; but, on one document he did sign his name, though it is difficult to read. There is also a statement in the record that he is "also known as Black Hawk in consequences of his well known services"[83]

George and Polly apparently moved to Brown County, Illinois, in 1849[147] or 1850. His first pension application is dated November 9th of 1850 and he states he was living in Nicholas County, Kentucky, in 1840.[95] The next application is dated May 22, 1871, and it shows the residence in Brown County, Illinois. The 1850 census from Nicholas County, Kentucky, shows him living there at that enumeration with six children, the oldest 18 and he is reported to be 66 and Polly 50.[96] He was actually 69 and Polly must have been 60?

Recent findings in 1999 among papers of Edwin Ruthvan Henry 3rd would indicate that perhaps his children were: George,[98] 2) Tom, 3) Jake, 4) Peter, 5) William (who was killed in the war, but doesn't state which war; 6) James; 7) Betsy Ann Margaret; 8) Ruth; 9) William Dehart; 10) Nancy; 11) Jane; 12) Polly; 13) Woodward; 14) Thomas; and 15) William. It looks like possibly a duplication of Thomas and William. Not knowing which war, I have requested both pension and service records on William for the civil war, but from the age of "Black Hawk" they could well have gone together in the Mexican. But I would have thought the history account above would have mentioned that had they been together and the son killed.

Ruth and Jake were apparently two of the children who were born around 1830 from the photographs previously displayed in the Meeks section.

Naming one of the children here as William Dehart looks very suspicious, too. William Dehart was the first settler migrating out of Kentucky to Illinois. Thomas B. Dehart, his son, married Malinda (Martin) Meeks. Were they related? Did "Black Hawk" have a good friend who he is honoring by naming a child after him? Was Dehart a relative through possibly the Doughertys? The Deharts left Kentucky for Brown County, Illinois, as did Malinda Martin, the Meeks family, and the Myers. Were they all related previously in Kentucky? I am leaving some interesting, but unanswered questions, for those who may choose to continue the research into this family.

I have been unable to find the parents of my grandmother, Mary Jane Myers, but she had to be the daughter of a son of "Black Hawk". Which? The pension records show that she was alive in 1882 applying for widow's pension, and awarded $8 per month. The last payment is shown to be made March 4, 1884, so I would assume that was the date of death. One of the witnesses to the signing of the pension application was a T. J. Myers.

There is also a reference in these same papers that Nelly (Kelly?) Myers, a grandson of Black Hawk and the son of William who was killed in the war, always went barefooted and worked with John Bullard making railroad ties; he cut his toe off and wrapped his foot up in a handkerchief and worked on. If he were close in age to John Bullard, that would make him born around 1855. If the son of William, killed in the war, then it must have been the civil war. I found no record at the United States Archives of his involvement in the civil war.

There is also a section listing the Weavers. See page 102. It gives "—iry Weaver" the first name not being readable, and then sets forth the names of Lyle Weaver, Tom, Sadie, Josephine, Emily, and Mary.

It then shows John Weaver (2) and followed by the names Arealy, George. Does this mean that this John is the second child?

Then sets forth Phrone, Cooly (3) Lucy, John, George

Then Lyle's family.

Then the names Geo and Sadie Houston, 1 child John.

Then Jose and Char O'Bryan.

Then Bill and Emma Taylor 4 children.

This certainly leaves work for a future researcher.

CHAPTER 28

GENERATION NO. 3

318. Mary Jane[3] MYERS <See p. 131> (George[2], George[1]) was born 9 November 1859 in Illinois. She was the granddaughter of George "Black Hawk" MYERS and Polly DOUGHERTY. She married William Ward MEEKS <See number 246, p. 108, 114>, he being born in 1860 in Kentucky, the son of Charles MEEKS and Melinda MARTIN.

319. George[3] MYERS <See p. 131> (George[2], George[1]). He was the grandson of George "Black Hawk" MYERS and Polly DOUGHERTY.

He married (1) Nancy DEHART.

They had 1 child:

324. f i. Mary MYERS.

George then married (2) Mrs. Tillie BRIGGS.

NOTES for Tillie:

They had 1 child:

+ 326. m ii. John Henry BULLARD, born 1855, died 1938 <See p. 136>.

NOTES for John:

Census of 1860 for Buckhorn Township, Brown County, Illinois, shows John Bullard, age 30, a constable, and born in Illinois. His wife is Mrs. R. and compiler remembers reading that William Henry Bullard (b. 1898) said his grandmother's name was Ruth. Sounds like the correct family.

They had 5 children:

638.	f	iv.	Mary DEHART, who married Daniel COMER, also of Adams County, Illinois.[44]
639.	m	v.	Thomas DEHART. He was still living in Buckhorn, Brown County, Illinois, at time of the biographical in 1886.[44]

NOTES for Jane:

Found nothing positive listing her as a family member, but John B. Houston was the brother-in-law of William L. Dehart, subject's husband, and they were having children about 1825 so she must have been born somewhere around 1800.[44]

NOTES for William:

William, a Kentuckian, was the earliest settler in the extreme southeast portion of Schuyler County (later Brown county was formed from part of Schuyler) having emigrated in 1832. He settled in Morgan County first, and then on March 6, 1833, he resettled in La Grange, Schuyler County, and in 1837 he permanently located in Buckhorn Township of Brown County on the northwest quarter of Section 33.[44(75)] (See Notes for Thomas B. for intersting story on page 107).

The Walker Cemetery is located on the town line between Sedgwick and the northern side of the Brooksville "porch" at a point about 300 yards east of the stream which is the outlet of Walker's Pond.

CHAPTER 33

GENERATION NO. 3

642. Reuben[3] GRAY, Jr. <See p. 139> (Reuben[2], Joshua[1]) was born 3 June 1762 in Castine, Hancock County, Maine. He was the son of Reuben GRAY and Abigail BLACK. Reuben, Jr., died 30 November 1858, at the age of 96. He married Sarah Goodwin HERRICK 13 April 1784. She was born 6 September 1766, the daughter of Andrew HERRICK and Sarah GOODWIN. NOTES for Reuben, Jr.:

The Andrew Gray Bible shows his birth June 3, 1762, and the Col. Reuben Gray Bible shows birth July 3, 1765. He died in 1858, according to the bible and the "Str" at age 97, so it is computed that the 1762 date is probably correct.

"Hattie" died of uterine cancer. Her first husband, Wesley, died falling from a tree in 1884 and in 1893 she married John William McKay. NOTES for Anna:[47]

Anna was buried at Fairhaven Memorial Cemetery. She and William Lee eloped, which caused her father to disown her as he was a proud coal miner. He felt Scotish coal miners were the "top of all workers" and William Lee was a lowly white collar worker. He did soften up later on and eventually lived with them for a short period of time.

She ended school in the 8th grade after the death of her mother and took over the household chores. She did not have a middle name, but used "B" because there were so many Annies and Annas in school that it helped make her different.

"I visited home often during 1945 - 1948, being in the Navy in Oceanside. Santa Ana was 50 miles distant and the limit of a weekday liberty pass, so I often took my buddy and we would manage to visit just about dinner time. She was a good cook and fed us many, many fine meals." (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

NOTES for William:

Died at the Santa Fe Hospital and buried in Fairhaven Memorial Cemetery, Santa Ana, California. He lived in Santa Ana many years. "I spoke with William during 1945 through 1948. He had been in the army in the first world war, serving overseas in France where he was injured with sprays of mustard gas used by Germany. The result was bad lungs and he had difficulty breathing and coughing. That was his reason for not being able to go to church. He was of medium build, slender. He was reserved and never disagreeable, but when he was angry, he was angry. And had the memory of an elephant and never forgot. He told me of a disagreement with a neighbor in Santa Ana and the neighbor brought him a dish of Jello as a peace offering one morning. William stood there talking with the neighbor while mixing a handful of chicken feed in the bowl and proceeded to feed it to the chickens. Now, it could be, but he mentioned that some of the chickens died!" (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

She callled him "Spud" and he called her "Willie". He was a Mason. When daughter, Adelaide, converted to the Catholic Church the Masons told him he would have to abandon his daughter. He chose, instead, to abandon the Masons. He was a sergeant in the engineers during World War I. He and Anna Barrowman eloped.[46] He had quit school in 9th grade but "had an uncanny memory for numbers - could add figures upside down and backwards faster than any of us could read," (Recollections of Ruth (Hutchinson) Tordoff.)[93]

GENERATION NO. 4

878. Kenneth Lee[4] HUTCHINSON, Sr., <See p. 173> (William[3], Wesley[2], Israel[1]) was born 29 November 1905 in Joliet, Will County, Illinois, the son of William Lee HUTCHINSON and Anna B. WILSON. Kenneth, Sr., died 9 January 1989 in Cimarron, Gray County, Kansas, at the age of 83, and was buried in Cimarron, Gray County, Kansas. He married Georgia Mae HENRY <See number 29, p. 30, 50> 5 July 1925 in Dodge City, Ford County, Kansas. She was born 5 August 1907 in Newton, Harvey County, Kansas, the daughter of Edwin Ruthvan HENRY, II, and Grace Louisa MEEKS.

NOTES for Kenneth Lee Hutchinson:

As a boy, Ken and his brother had to fetch drinking and cooking water two hilly blocks with a wagon and two covered buckets, and on a sled in the winter. He sold newspapers at a corner stand in Joliet and he would sell them in the local pub at that corner. There he was able at times to "swipe" a free sandwich once in a while. The family moved a lot and he finally got a job with the Santa Fe Failroad in June of 1920. They moved to Dodge City in 1921 where he continued employment for the Santa Fe.

His heavy work schedule did not allow time for sports. While in Illinois he had joined a rifle club sponsored by the Winchester Arms for boys and girls. His unit won the National High School Championship shooting medal in 1919 and second place went to Evanston, Illinois. Both teams scored 998 out of 1000, but his unit had "better" bulls-eye hits and gave them the trophy. They tried to get a school athletic letter for their accomplishment, but were denied because letters were for athletic teams only.

He went through his sophmore year and most of his junior year by going to night school because of so much work. After moving to Dodge City, he tried to enroll part time and was denied by the principal. Teachers went to bat for him and he was finally accepted. But, working all night, once he was late for school and he was told that he had to get a tardy slip from the office. The principal and Ken had a few words over the situation when "I told him that he could put his tardy slip where I would like to, but did not want to get my fingers dirty." The teachers wanted to again fight for his rights, but Ken declined because he knew it would be the same as long as that principal was there.

Ken and his mother started going to the 1st Baptist Church in Dodge City. He was invited by several girls from a Sunday School class to a party. He didn't give them an answer because he didn't kow what hours he would be working. The day of the party he had been working at unloading coal and was covered with coal dust. On his way home he met one of the girls coming out of the Palace Drug Store on Chestnut Street and told her he would go to the party with her. She didn't know who he was. He took off his cap and she then recognized him and told him where to meet her because the girls had to take the boys to the party. By the time he got home, the other girls had called to find out about taking him to the party, but he stayed with the first one; AND she was the only girl he went out with from then on. They wanted to marry, but she was a freshman in high school and they had to wait for her to finish school. She graduated and they married that summer of 1925.

He worked many towns and jobs with the railroad and was warehouse foreman 17 years and during that time his son, Kenneth, and his wife's brother, Howrd, worked on the freight docks during the war. He then went to Hutchinson until July 4, 1970, when he retired, ending 50 years of service to the Santa Fe Railroad. (Autobiography.[165])

880. Hugh Wilson[4] HUTCHINSON <See p. 173> (William[3], Wesley[2], Israel[1]) was born 6 August 1908, also in Joliet, the son of William Lee HUTCHINSON and Anna B. WILSON. Hugh died 1987 in Reno, Washoe County, Nevada, at the age of 78. He married June E. CLARKSON. She was born 7 December 1908 in Illinois. June died 18 June 1972 in Reno, at the age of 63, and was buried there in the Masonic Memorial Gardens Cemetery on 21 June 1972.[162]

They had 1 child:

884. m i. Don Lee HUTCHINSON.[46]

882. Adelaide[4] HUTCHINSON <See p. 173> (William[3], Wesley[2], Israel[1]) was born 4 August 1916 in Joliet, the daughter of William Lee HUTCHINSON and Anna B. WILSON. Adelaide died 16 January 1970 in Orange, Orange County, California, at the age of 53, and was buried in Holy Sepulcher in that city. She married Vingenzo "Vincent" Joseph PAINO 18 February 1936 in Orange.[143] Vincent was born 4 September 1912 in Barton, Orleans County, Vermont, the son of James PAINO and Angelina SANTALUCITA. Vincent died 22 February 1970 in Orange at the age of 57.

+ 890. m vi. Michael James PAINO, born 8 June 1954 <See p. 178>.

NOTES for Adelaide:

She was always went by Adelaide (see paragraph 3) and I remember her with several children and Ken Hutchinson, Jr., and I visited their home in 1948 and the children playing and her cooking up a real feast. Her husband was Italian and he made the BEST spaghetti sauce you ever tasted. He owned a produce house and I remember Kenneth and Georgia (Henry) Hutchinson, would get a box of oranges - mostly avocados every year. I understand some of his children still run the plant and it is fairly good sized now, Paino's Produce, in Santa Ana, I believe. (Recollections of Howard W. Henry).

Burial at Holy Sepulcher Cemetery. Adelaide converted to Catholic Church when she married and her father, being a Mason, was told me must abandon this child. He chose to abandon the Masons. She went to school in Victorville, California. She had epilepsy as a result of being hit in the head with a baseball in 7th grade. She never had many friends during her life because of it, others being afraid of the seizures. At age five a stove blew up in her face and her mother put butter on it. Amazingly, there were never any scars. Maid of Honor at wedding was Genevieve Rhines[46] Birth Certificate does not show the name Harriett, only Adelaide Hutchinson.[92] Other materials showed the first name Harriett, but compiler removed because of the proof of the birth certificate. BUT birth certificate even misspells her last name as Hutchison
